MAIL DESTROYED — Sedalia firemen are seen unloading mail sacks and boxes from a smoking mail car Saturday afternoon. Fire of undetermined origin burned a hole in the floor and up into the mail bags. Firemen had to break the seals on the car to gain entrance. The passenger train, of which the car was a part, was delayed in Sedalia nearly two hours. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Reported Break In Indian Lines By Pakistani Attack

New Delhi Claims Two US-Made Planes Downed

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A Pakistani tank and infantry attack supported by jet fighters was reported to have broken through Indian lines in southwest Kashmir Saturday despite attacks by Indian planes.

New Delhi claimed its planes shot down two U.S.-made Pakistani jets and knocked out the 22nd American-made Pakistani tank since the fighting broke out Wednesday.

In Pakistan, a spokesman said one of its F86 Sabre Jets was knocked down by Indian Soviet-made MIG21s but the pilot was saved. It was the first reference to India using the supersonic jets obtained from the Soviet Union.

Informed sources said the Pakistani forces managed to cross the Tawi River, which would pose a threat to Jammu, winter capital of Indian-held Kashmir.

A Pakistani spokesman said the forces crossing the river proceeded to forge ahead for five more miles.

On the Chhamb front 35 miles northwest of Jammu, informants in New Delhi said, Pakistani forces deepened their penetration to 10 miles with a five-mile advance in heavy fighting.

India has made no estimate of Indian or Pakistani casualties but they were reported to be heavy and mounting.

The Indian spokesman said the ground attack was made under the cover of U.S.-made jet fighter planes. He reported India's planes immediately attacked and all returned safely.

In Rawalpindi, the Pakistan spokesman said the Sabre Jet was shot down by four MIGs over Pakistan's territory. He reported the MIGs were accompanying an undetermined number of Indian British - made Hunter jets who were attacking ground forces.

This was the second air attack by Indian forces during the the day, he said. Earlier 40 Indian air force jets engaged in a dogfight with Pakistani jets but broke off the fight "after a short, sharp engagement."

Labor Day Death Toll Up Steadily

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Labor Day weekend traffic toll climbed steadily Saturday.

The tally rose to 100.

Rain over large areas in the interior of the country increased the dangers of driving, but it also tended to inspire caution.

The count started slowly but pushed up with quickening speed at the end of the first 12 hours of the 78-hour compilation period.

Highway accidents that cost one or two lives predominated.

The National Safety Council estimated in advanee that between 500 and 600 Americans may died in motor vehicle accidents between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday.

The council also calculated that motoring mileage would add up to 8.9 billion traffic miles and would set a record for a Labor Day weekend.

The traffic death record for a Labor Day weekend was set in 1963. It was 557. The toll reached 531 last year.

To provide a basis for drawing comparisons The Associated Press made a survey of motor vehicle fatalities in a recent nonholiday weekend period — from 6 p.m. Friday Aug. 20 to midnight Monday Aug. 23. It showed 451 deaths in traffic, 11 in boating accidents and 45 drownings, for an over-all total of 507.

Memorial Day and Independence Day traffic deaths established records this year for three-day celebrations of these holidays — 474 on Memorial Day and 551 on Independence Day.

The highest motor vehicle fatality total for any three-day holiday was set during the Christmas observance in 1955. It was 609.

Approval Is Expected

Union Officials Vote On Contract

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Steel union officials meet here Sunday to vote on a contract agreement that would hike steelworkers' income almost 50 cents an hour over three years. Swift approval is expected.

The optimism stems from the firmness of President Johnson's announcement Friday that negotiators "have reached essential agreement. Also, a union source indicated no difficulty is expected; and approval by the 10 major steel companies is expected to be merely a formality.

Ratification would avert a strike that would knock out about 80 per cent of the nation's steelmaking facilities. It had been threatened for 12:01 a.m. Thursday.

The executive board of the United Steelworkers Union, AFL-CIO, meets at 9 a.m. Sunday and the 170-member Wage Policy Committee convenes at 1 p.m.

By union procedure, the board will recommend approval or rejection of the proposal; and the committee, which has final authority on contract decisions, will vote "yes" or "no."

The tenative agreement was hammered out in intensive bargaining by top negotiators in Washington last week under heavy pressure by Johnson for a strike-free settlement.

Neither the President nor the negotiators would place a money value on the package, pending ratification.

However, reliable sources in this steel center said the agreement would add 46 to 48 cents an hour to steelworkers' income in wages and fringe benefits in a contract running to Aug. 11, 1968.

The union reportedly sought an increase estimated at 48.9 cents which the industry bargaining team said would cost 55 cents an hour.

On the average, steelworkers now earn about $4.40 an hour, counting fringe benefits. They are among the highest paid industrial workers, numbering about 450,000.

They haven't received a wage boost since 1961 in the contract negotiated in the record 116-day strike of 1959.

An informed source said the contract to be voted upon Sunday grants the union one of its biggest goals — retirement after 30 years of service regardless of age.

It is also said to contain pension increases worth about $5 a month per year of service. The industry reportedly offered $4.50 a month per year. The present maximum pension is about $7.60 a month per year of service.

The Wage Policy Committee is mainly made up of minor local union officials and some rank-and-file members, elected by rank and filers.

Otterville Fair Dates Sept. 9-11

The annual Otterville Street Fair, to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 9-11, at Otterville, promises to be one of the biggest events in years.

The street parade is expected to be one of the most elaborate ever held. A section of the parade will be shown Friday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m. The actual parade is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept 11.

A section of this parade will be shown on Friday evening around 7 p.m. preceding that evening performance. Then Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. the big complete annual parade will move off over the designated routes.

Already entered in the parade are: Floats—Otterville Garden Club, Otterville Boots and Saddle Club, Baptist Church, Bixler Gas Co., Otterville 4-H, Otterville Lumber Co., Rebekah and Odd Fellows, Potter's Fina Service, Presbyterian Church, Chamber of Commerce.

Also in the parade will be three school bands, visiting belles from nearby towns, business and farm machinery dsiplays and saddle clubs and new cars displayed by nearby dealers.

The program follows:

Thursday evening, Sept. 9—7:30 p.m.: Presentation of Flag (Boy Scouts), Musical Program, Coronation of Fair Queen, Drawing for tricycle, age 1 to 5 inclusive), Drawing for bicycle (age 6 to 14 inclusive).

Schweitzer Living His Last Hours

LAMBARENE, Gabon (AP)—Dr. Albert Schweitzer "is living in calm his last hours among us," Dr. Walter Munz reported Saturday.

"His circulation system is failing, his heart is weakening, the kidneys have stopped functioning," said Dr. Munz, medical head of the legendary jungle hospital founded by Dr. Schweitzer.

"His face is showing peace," said Dr. Schweitzer's daughter, Rhena Eckert. "It looks calm and relaxed."

A message sent abroad earlier to relatives and close friends said: "He is dying."

"There is no more hope of human effort that can save him," said Mrs. Eckert.

She showed signs of fatigue and sleepless nights.

"Another man would have given up long ago," she said. "But my father was stronger than most men." He is 90.

Work at the hospital went on as usual. Attendants moved about quietly, however, and doctors performed their chores conversing in whispers. An intermittent rain had wet the scattered huts in the compound.

Schweitzer was overcome by fatigue Sunday after receiving a number of visitors during Gabon's observance of the fifth anniversary of its independence. He has been ill ever since.

Dr. David Miller, American heart specialist summoned to Schweitzer's bedside, reported he planned to return home Tuesday, "barring a miracle."

"God gave him a full life," Dr. Miller said. "No man could have done better."

Sedalia C of C To Sponsor Factory, Industrial Tour

The agricultural and farm markteing division of the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring an industrial and factory tour Sept. 22 and 23, with the Chamber furnishing the transportation with those making the trip paying for their lodging and meals.

The bus will accommodate 39 persons and invitations have been mailed to an equal number of Pettis County farmers and business men. Anyone interested in going who did not receive an invitation may call the Chamber office and will be put on the list in case of cancellation of those who have previously expressed a desire of going, but find they cannot do so.

Reservations must be in by Sept. 13.

The group will visit plants at Tarkio, North Kansas City and Marshall.

Rainfall May Surpass Record Year Of 1961

Rainfall for the Sedalia area is apparently going to surpass the 1961 record year of 50.90 inches.

With the 2.87 inches of water dumped on the city Friday night and Saturday morning, the 1965 total now stands at 47.81 inches and there are three months and three weeks of the year still ahead. The weatherman promises heavy rains again tonight.

Here's the moisture readings for the first eight months of 1965: January, 2.76; February, .84; March, 3.06; April, 4.47; May, 2.06; June, 10.08; July 11.45; August, 8.80; for an eight months total of 43.52, the normal rainfall for a calendar year.

September readings already show a total of 4.29 inches for the first four days—up to noon Saturday.

Cole Camp Fair Plans Being Made

Plans are nearing completion for the annual three-day Cole Camp Fair to be held Sept. 9, 10 and 11.

The fair will open with a band concert at 12:30 p.m. Thursday followed by a welcoming address by Fair Board President Raymond E. Harris, Sr. at 1 p.m. Exhibition and judging of horses at 1:30 p.m. will round out the afternoon schedule. Evening activities will get underway with a parade of farm machinery at 7:15 p.m. The grand parade of floats and coronation of the Cole Camp Fair Queen will be at 7:45. The Cole Camp Jaycees, sponsors of the contest, have announced this year's candidates as Carolyn Alderman, Kathy Ashley and Deborah Arnold.

Friday is School Day and the 10 a.m. parade of floats will be at 7:45 p.m. A tractor rodeo is slated for 10:45 a.m. Friday and again on Saturday. Dairy cattle will be exhibited and judged at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

The final day of activities will begin with an amateur contest at 10 a.m. In the afternoon beef cattle will be exhibited and judged at 1:30 p.m. The farm machinery parade at 7:15 p.m. and the grand parade at 7:45 p.m. will conclude the day's schedule.

The Holiday Amusement Company will provide rides and shows on the midway throughout the three days.

Train Delayed Two Hours

Mail Destroyed By Fire In Car

Several hundred dollars damage resulted to mail and a mail car on Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 16 about 1:40 p.m. Saturday when fire of undetermined origin burned a hole in the mail car floor and up into mail bags. The fire was discovered by switchmen near the Engineer crossing as the train was leaving Sedalia headed east.

A radio call to the engineer on the passenger train from the switch engine brought the train to a halt on the main line next to the Missouri Pacific shops. The engineer "spotted" the burning car at the shop crossing to wait the arrival of the fire companies.

Firemen had to break the seals on the car to gain entrance and began tossing mail bags out onto the ground while another fireman using a booster line sprayed water toward the front end of the car where the fire seemed to be located.

Maurice Hogan, postmaster of the Sedalia post office, reported the mail was mostly third and fourth class merchandise and printed matter. It was sent from Los Angeles, Calif., and the car's destination was in Pennsylvania. Most of the mail had addresses from the State of California.

He reported salvageable but undistinguishable matter was to be forwarded to the dead letter office in St. Louis. Other mail was resacked and sealed to be placed in a car to go on east.

The mail car belonging to the New York Central was No. 9440 and due to brake conditions was sidetracked from the train after the fire was extinguished and mail sacks in the front end had been removed. Mail which was not sent to the St. Louis office, was transferred to another mail car and left Sedalia on Local No. 592 to go to Jefferson City where it will be switched to another Missouri Pacific passenger train and on to St. Louis and from there to a train enroute to Pennsylvania.

The car was heavily loaded with mail from California and a good part in the front end of the car was either damaged or destroyed.

Railroad men pointed out a bad brake shoe on the right front wheels of the truck had been worn down to the pin, from which they believed sparks might have set fire to the wooden floor of the car. However, Fire Chief Emmett Vaught said he listed the fire as undetermined although he too, said he noted the defective brake shoe.

Passenger train No. 16 was delayed by the fire for nearly two hours before the mail car could be removed from the train and switched to a side track near the depot.

Campbell Takes Verbal Swing At Sen. Long

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Ethan H. Campbell, Republican state chairman, took a verbal swing Saturday at Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.

He said Long had aided big city political machines and hurt the people of Missouri by voting against the proposal by Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., to let the states set up one house of their legislatures on a basis other than population.

The Dirksen amendment remains locked in committee by virtue of an 8-8 tie vote earlier this week.

Campbell said in a statement that Long, by voting "no," "says that the people of Missouri are not intelligent enough to make a wise choice as to how they want to be governed. . .

"It may well be true that the senator will not be called to account on his decision for another three years, but elephants are notable for their long memories and I suggest more than a few donkeys will also have long memories in this instance."

He said Long "showed a flagrant disregard for the citizens or our state, who only two weeks ago in the special election expressed their disagreement with the power grab of the Supreme Court by rejecting a plan to carry out the court's demand."

Campbell said he hoped Democrats would join in prevailing on Long to change his position if the Dirksen amendment is reconsidered in committee.

Welfare Payments Total $107,516.18

Total welfare payments made during August in Pettis County was $107,516.18, according to Neva F. Hell, director. This includes $464 paid for dental care, $1,830.69 paid for drugs and $47 for child welfare.

Old age assistance increased $552.40 with a total of $74,559.49 paid to 1,194 recipients.

Aid to dependent children decreased $688 with a total of $13,855 paid to 163 persons for 456 children.

General relief decreased $605 with a total of $5,286 paid for persons.

Permanent and total disability payments increased $10, with a total of $7,874 paid for 118 persons.

Aid to the blind and blind pension remained the same with a total of $3,600 paid to 48 persons.

Seven Die In State In Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven traffic deaths were recorded in Missouri less than 24 hours after the start of the long Labor Day holiday weekend.

Officials were hopeful that the fatalities during the period, from 6 p.m., Friday to midnight Monday, would stay well below the 31 deaths recorded during the July 4 holiday weekend, also a long one.

Three Charleston, Mo., men were killed early Saturday when their car rammed into a truck on US-60, four miles east of Charleston. Killed were Leroy Swope, 30, the driver, and Jessie Edmond, 26 and Ellis Davis, 31. The truck driver, Roy Moore, 28, Sikeston, Mo., escaped injury.

Two persons lost their lives in a collision on I-70, about six miles east of Boonville early Saturday. The highway patrol said a westbound pickup truck went out of control and overturned in the eastbound lane. A second car struck the truck, rolling it onto its top and setting it afire. Both occupants of the truck were burned.

Efforts still were under way late Saturday to identify the other victim.

Motorcycle accidents led to the death of two persons. Walter McLaughlin, 23, Excelsior Springs, was killed when his machine collided with a car on US-69, north of Excelsior Springs.

A 14-year-old Hillsboro, Mo., youth, Rex Abney, was killed when the motorcycle on which he was a passenger, was struck by a motor car on M-21, near Hillsboro Friday night.

ARLINGTON, Va. — Work has begun clearing the ground at the grave of President John F. Kennedy for construction of a $1.4 million permanent monument at the site in Arlington National Cemetery. Once it is completed, construction of a terminal wall, an elliptical overlook and a circular walkway 210 feet in diameter will begin. Visitors will continue to be allowed during the 14-month construction period. (UPI Telephoto)

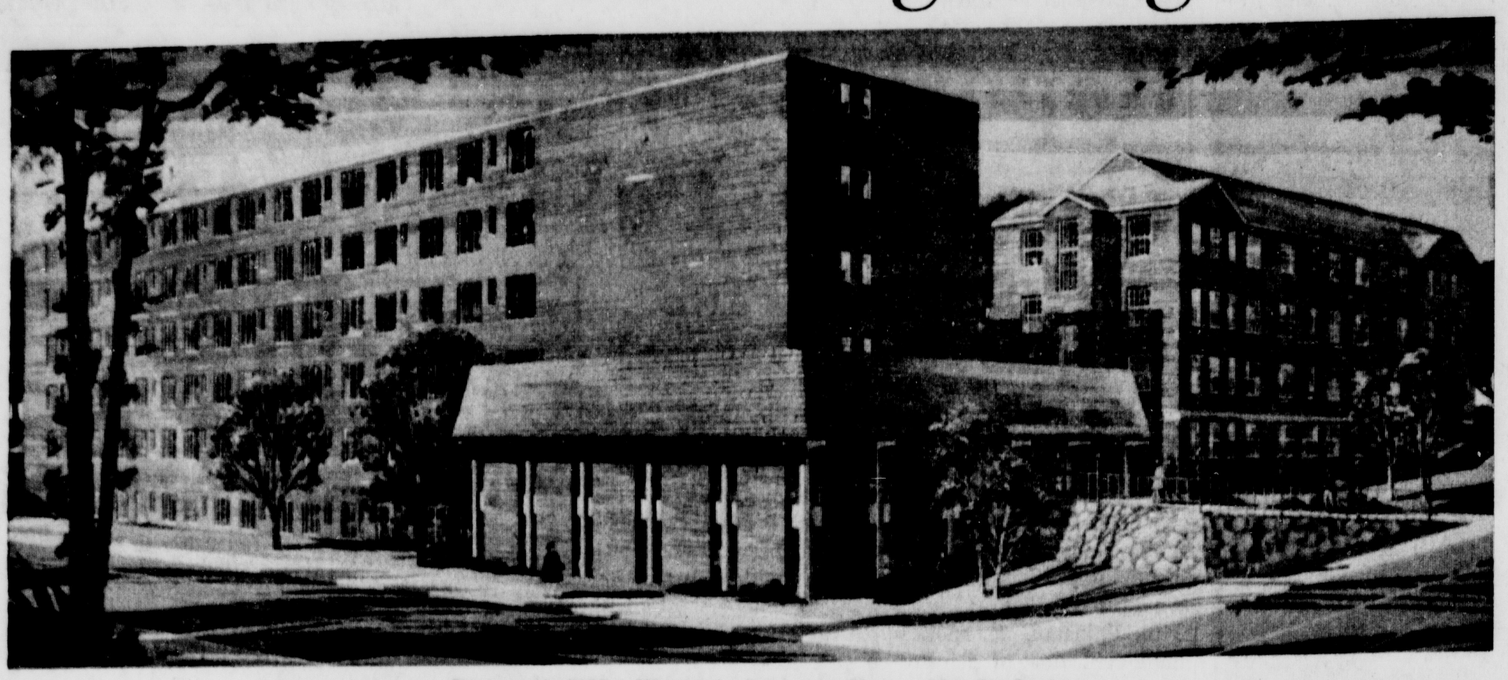

Maj. Gen. Humfeld Is Hospitalized

Maj. Gen. Harold Humfeld, deputy commander of the 15th Air Force at March Air Force Base Calif., is hospitalized in California with what physicians say might have been a heart attack it was learned Saturday.

Gen. and Mrs. Humfeld, both of whom have many friends in Sedalia and Pettis County, moved to March AFB during the summer from Omaha, Neb., where he was director of operations of the Strategic Air Command (SAC) at Offutt AFB, Neb.

Prior to his move to Omaha he was wing commander at Whiteman Air Force Base. While he and his family lived at Whiteman he was advanced from Colonel to Brigadier General.

$5.1 Million Building Program At CMSC

Proposed CMSC Women's Dorm to House 696 Students

Proposed CMSC Men's Dorm for Housing 394 Students

Student Union Building to Cover Entire Block Area

A $5,125,000 loan for the construction of two dormitories and an addition to the Student Union at Central Missouri State College, Warresnburg, has been approved by the Community Facilities Administration of the Federal Home and Housing Finance Agency, it has been announced by CMS President Warren C. Lovinger.

The college was informed by Senators Stuart Symington and Edward Long, of Missouri, and by Representative William J. Randall (Independence) that the loan had been approved.

The two dormitories, which are actually extensions of present buildings, will house more than 1,000 students—some 696 men and 394 women.

J. E. Dunn Construction Company, Kansas City, which will build all the new buildings, is to have the dorms ready for occupancy by September, 1966. The addition to the Union is to be finished sometime after that.

The construction will bring to 22 the number of dormitories on the Warrensburg campus. The campus then will have housing facilities for approximately 6,000 students.

The six-story dormitory to house the 394 women will be built south of Yeater Hall on South Holden Street. The five-story unit to house the men will be built on the corner of Christopher and Maguire Streets, just north of Ellis Hall.

Mantel and Steele, Inc., Kansas City, are architects for the dormitories as well as the addition to the Union.

The Union expansion was made necessary by the boom in student population at CMS, which is expected to reach 7500 on the Warrensburg campus this fall.

The Union will extend for a full block in the center of the campus. The present building, completed in 1962 at a cost of $1,162,000 will represent only about one half the total structure when the new part is completed.

The extension will make possible a 10-lane addition to the bowling alley, an enlarged game room, expanded cafeteria with another serving line, a TV viewng room, a large college store, and a beauty shop adjacent to the present barber shop, all on the first floor.

On the second floor will be located a large ballroom with a stage and dressing rooms, an expanded snack bar with modified self-service features, a faculty lounge, a conference center, additional administrative offices and meeting rooms.

Several meeting rooms will be located on the third-floor mezzanine off the ballroom.

The FHHA loan will be retired through income from the buildings and from student fees. When this project is completed there will have been 15 buildings constructed on the campus under this financing plan without the use of state funds.

Kiddies Net $6.75 With MD Carnival

Johnny Lewellen, whose father is Lloyd Lewellen, Pettis County balanced farmng agent, was watching television recently when a program offered a kit for money making projects that children could put on for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. One of the projects was a carnival and Johnny was engrossed in the entire program.

That was something he would like to do, have a carnival for Muscular Dystrophy. He asked Mrs. Lewellen about it and she told him he could send for the kid. She didn't imagine that seven-year-old Johnny would carry it through, so many times children don't. But if he wanted to, she was ready to do what she could to help him.

In a short time the packet came filled with ideas and suggestions and Johnny went to work on his plans. He enlisted the help of his older brother, Don, and of some of the neighbor kids, and they set up in the yard of the Lewellen home, 1008 South Garfield, the things suggested in the packet and some they thought up themselves. Prior to the big day, they advertised it all over the neighborhood with posters.

Diana Wimer was dressed as a gypsy and told fortunes. Dale Schroeder put on a Superman Show and his muscles bulged from their stocking stuffings. David Bartlett was a clown and wandered all over doing funny things.

There was the place where they tossed jar rubber rings over bottles — that is, if they could, for prizes and there were little ducks floating on water, as well as other games. And, of course, there were refreshment stands, too, without which no carnival would be complete.

Johnny was everywhere managing his big show and the neighbor kids came from several blocks around, some 20 of them, and they spent their nickels and pennies and dimes on the carnival shows, games and food. They had a perfectly wonderful time.

The morning had been bad but the afternoon was nice enough to have the show outside, even though they had made tentative plans to hold it in the garage if it rained. Plans were to have the carnival all afternoon but the weatherman held off the showers until after mid-afternoon and then the rain drops began to pepper down again — kids scattered — and the show was over.

The young carnival manager counted the pennies and nickels and dimes and found that he had a profit of $6.75 for the Muscular Dystrophy Fund when his day was over.

Hughesville WSCS Gives Sum To Minister

A vote to send $152.50 to the pastor of Smithville Methodist Church, whose church, home and personal belongings were ruined in the recent flood was made in August by Hughesville Bethel Woman's Society of Christian Service at the home of Mrs. Everett Vannoy. The club earned the money at the July Sedalia Street Bazaar.

Mrs. Dickie Schroeder became a member. Visitors were Mrs. Anne Bartley, Mrs. James Mullins and Mrs. Eldon Reickhof.

"Spanish - American Visitors Speak" was the program given by Mrs. Price Jackson. Acting as Spanish - Americans were Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, Mrs. Lawson Smith, Mrs. William Kraft, Mrs. Leslie Powell and Mrs. Dickie Schroeder.

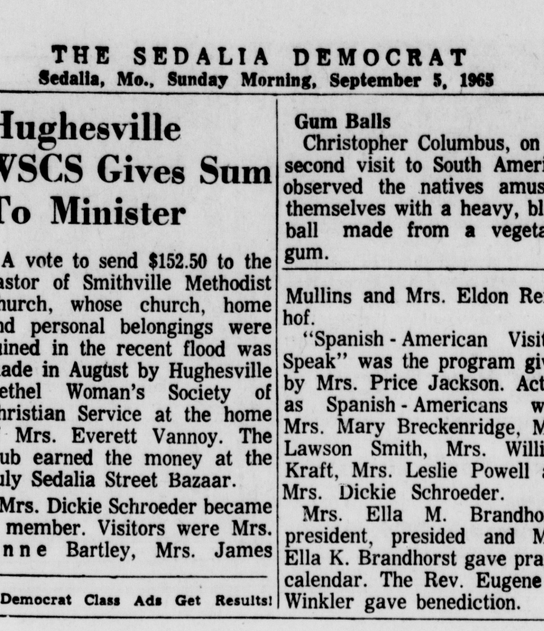

Mrs. Ella M. Brandhorst, president, presided and Mrs. Ella K. Brandhorst gave prayer calendar. The Rev. Eugene H. Winkler gave benediction.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old girl who is writing not only for myself, but for everyone who is a nail-biter.

First, is it true that a person who bites his nails is nervous? I have been biting mine way way down ever since I can remember. I don't consider myself nervous, although I did stop biting nails once for two weeks and then I couldn't stand it anymore so I bit them off again. It seemed like something I had to do.

I go with a bunch of nice girls and they all have pretty hands and nails. When I am with them I hide my hands in my lap or put them in my pocket.

I keep worrying about the day I get an engagement ring. I'll want to show it around the way other girls do. But how can I if my nails are ugly? Please help me.—FRANTIC.

Dear Fran: Nail-biting is a sign of nervousness. You'll find that your nails take the worst beating when you are anxious, frightened, frustrated or unhappy.

Some nail-biters have kicked the habit through gimmicky concoctions which are available in drugstores. Usually, however, gimmicks won't work. I suggest professional help. When you find out what is eating you, you'll stop eating your nails.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a firm believer in the Ann Landers M.Y.O.B. Philosophy (Mind Your Own Business) but a relative of mine reads your column religiously and perhaps if she sees this she'll recognize herself and get smart.

This relative has a little girl who is six years old. Susan is a delightful child—bright and lovable. When Susan does or says something that displeases her mother she gets a slap across the mouth in the presence of everyone.

My mother used to slap me across the mouth in company and it didn't make me behave better. It only made me hate her. If I'm old-fashioned please say so. If this mother isn't doing right by her child I hope you'll set her straight. Thank you.—WANT TO BE FAIR.

Dear Want To Be Fair: Children should be corrected the moment they do or say something that needs correcting—but the child should be taken out of the room first.

I am dead opposed to cracking a youngster across the mouth under ANY circumstances. The loss of dignity that results from a slap in the face is often devastating to a child and it doesn't do anything useful for an adult either.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on the letter from the teen-ager signed, "Needing Wheels." As an employee of a credit bureau I see reports on thousands of kids just like that one. His file probably looks something like this:

Education: Applicant dropped out of high school.

Employment: Applicant has had six jobs since leaving school. No record of steady employment. His earning capacity is limited since he is unskilled. At present he is unemployed.

Personal: Applicant is liked by associates. Informants say, however, he is immature and has no long range plans for the future.

Assets: Nothing of value.

"Needing Wheels" would surely be turned down for a car loan for the next two to six years.

This young man should go back to school and get some training. A car is the LAST thing he needs.—DECLINE ON NO WHEELS.

Dear Decline: Thanks for letting us know how it looks from the credit bureau. It looks the same from where I sit.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

RRB Explains New Insurance For Members

The Railroad Retirement Board has announced how railroad employees and persons on the Board's rolls who are aged 65 and over can participate in the new health insurance programs.

T. E. Keating, manager of the Board's Sedalia district office, states that early in October the Board will mail literature about the new programs and an enrollment card to eligible persons on its rolls who are not receiving benefits from the Social Security Administration. These persons will automatically participate in the hospital insurance plan, but they must individually decide whether they wish to have the voluntary medical insurance coverage. They should indicate their decision about the medical insurance plan on the enrollment card and return it to the Board.

Eligible persons who are receiving benefits from the Social Security Administraton, including railroad employees and their wives and persons on the Board's roll, will also automatically participate in the hospital insurance program. The Social Security Administration will mail these individuals literature about the programs and an enrollment card before the close of 1965.

Beginning Sept. 1, 1965, eligible railroad employees and their wives who have not yet applied for railroad retirement or social security benefits can join the health insurance programs at any Railroad Retirement Board field office. These individuals must file an application and establish proof of their age if they wish the hospital insurance coverage or if they wish to enroll in the medical insurance plan.

The law limits the periods during which persons can enroll in the medical insurance plan. Persons who will reach age 65 before Jan. 1, '66, will be protected under the medical insurance plan when it begins on July 1, 1966, only if they enroll by March 31, 1966. Persons who reach age 65 after December 1965 will have protection as soon as they reach 65 only if they enroll during the 3-month period just before they reach that age. In no case, however, will the medical insurance take effect before July 1, 1966.

Community Living Aired At Meeting

Community problems were discussed by St. Patrick's Altar and Rosary Society Aug. 19 in St. Joseph's Hall. Mrs. Richard Kraus had planned the program.

In September, the society will meet with Holy Name Society.

Mrs. Margaret Youngkamp told of plans to sew for the Pope's Store. Reports were made concerning visits to parishioners in rest homes and hospitals.

Mrs. Dean Riley Gives Twin City August Subject

Mrs. Dean Riley spoke on "Conservation in Action" for Twin City Garden Club, California, Aug. 16 at American Legion Hall. She showed a film of a community lake.

Nominating committee members for officers to be elected in September, are: Mrs. Kenyon Latham, chairman; Mrs. William B. Todd and Mrs. R. W. Foster.

Mrs. W. J. Eitzen, civic improvement chairman, reported the school yard mowing strip has been completed and some fills made.

Club work for the Moniteau County and Missouri State fairs was outlined by Mrs. Floyd Oesterly.

Hospitality committee members were Miss Catherine Riner, Mrs. William B. Todd and Mrs. Hugh Williams.

● Accidents

Two persons were injured in a two-car accident on Highway 65 four miles north of Route 52 in Benton County at 8 a. m. Saturday.

According to the Highway Patrol, a 1962 Ford driven by George Nelson, 57, Route 2, Craig, Neb., was headed south when it went into a skid during a heavy rainstorm and collided with a 1965 Plymouth, driven by Helen Gilmore, 25, Route 1, Ionia.

Taken to Bothwell Hospital were Mrs. Gilmore and Mrs. Myrtle Nelson, 52, wife of Mr. Nelson. Mrs. Nelson was treated for chest injuries by Dr. A. J. Campbell and released. Mrs. Gilmore was admitted after being treated by Dr. Karl Gonser for injuries to the left shoulder and a cut across the forehead.

Olen W. Kirchhoff, 37, Kansas City, escaped injury while his wife, Arnolia Lois Kirchhoff, complained of a back injury as a result of a one-car accident near the Walk Curve on North U. S. Highway 65 about 8:45 p. m. Saturday.

Kirchhoff reported to Trooper Robert Bruce of the State Highway Patrol he was driving between 55 and 60 miles an hour when his attention was distracted for a moment as he came around the curve and lost control of the vehicle. It left the highway on the right side of the pavement, tore out about 75 feet of fencing on the Roy Swope farm, and continued several hundred feet through weeds and grass, coming to a stop in a ditch next to a tree.

There was some damage to the front of the 1964 Chevrolet tudor Impala. The car was towed to Sedalia by Bacon's wrecker.

While working this accident, Trooper Bruce received a call another accident on north. An investigation revealed a car had driven off on a soft shoulder and went into the ditch. No injuries were involved and slight damage resulted to the automobile.

The Patrol did not investigate this accident, after it was learned a wrecker had already been called to the scene and no property damage, injuries or another vehicle were involved.

Emil Gerke, 35, Tipton, lost two toes from his right foot in a lawn mower accident at his home about 6 p.m. Friday. The fourth and little toes were severed, and the big toe was mangled, according to the report. He was mowing between his home and the home of Dennis Garber when the accident occurred.

Gerke was treated by Dr. C. F. Luebbert then taken to the Charles E. Still Hospital, Jefferson City, by the Conn ambulance. He is the comptroller at the Fischer Billiard Table Manufacturing Co., Tipton.

● Circuit Court

Robbie Owen, a minor acting through his next friend and mother, Helen Owen, was awarded a judgment in Cirucit Court Friday in a damage suit filed and settled the same day

Defendant in the suit was Gary Lee Vandorn.

Injuries were alleged to the Owen youth in an auto accident June 15, 1963, on Highway 5 at a point 13.3 miles south of Route 52 involving a car driven by Vandorn and one driven by the youth's father, Aubrey William Owen.

New Students 'Greeted' At High School

Smith-Cotton High School's 940-seat auditorium was well over half-filled Thursday afternoon with incoming eighth graders and students new to the school for the annual orientation program.

S-C principal, Dr. Bruce Riddle, welcomed the students and stressed that the number of rules and regulations which they will have to contend with will largely be determined by their own actions.

Walter E. Diehl vice-principal, introduced American Field Service student, Elizabeth Mackie, from Rhodesia, Africa, who is residing this school year with Mr. and Mrs William Hopkins, 1610 West 13th.

Diehl emphasized that most academic difficulties which most students have are caused by frequent absences, and that a student can scarcely expect to get much from school if he does not attend.

Opening exercises, which included the Star Spangled Banner, the Pledge of Allegiance, the student creed, and the school song, were led by Janice Rundlett Senior Student Council President. After recognizing Teresa Preuitt, pianist, and Kathy Greer, song leader, Janice then introduced Sally Robertson, Junior High Student Council President, who gave special greetings to the eighth graders. Sally also introduced Don Crank, freshman, who is vice-president of the Junior High Council.

Pam Price, Senior Student Council Vice-President, talked about the importance of school spirit and explained the meaning of the student creed. Joe Lamy, president of the Senior Class, outlined ways which new S-C students could help with traffic problems in the halls.

Tiger Football Prospects Shaping Up With Practice

SMITH-COTTON CO-CAPTAINS — The Smith-Cotton High School Tiger Co-Captains this season are both linemen and nice big fellows too. Mike Wells, (left) is a 170-pound senior and on the right is Bill Herrick, 175-pound senior. Both play guard and both are lettermen. Herrick a two-year man and Wells a one-year letterman. There is little doubt in the minds of the Tiger coaching staff that these two boys will workout well for the Tigers on the gridiron, this season. (Democrat-Capital Photo).

Freshmen Will Play On Monday

By Bill Maunders

As the beginning of the 1965 Tiger football season approaches, outlook is fine for Smith-Cotton. Sedalia's first game is being staged this coming Friday night with the Owls at Jennie Jaynes Stadium.

Although the Owls were the victors of last year's opener at Marshall, 21-0, Head Coach Dick Rees thinks the growl of the Tiger eleven will drown out the hoot of the Owls and rule the Gridiron Friday night.

Smith - Cotton has compiled a 7-8 won-lost record against Marshall, dating back to 1945. The two teams did not play from 1952-1958.

"Pratcices have been sharp and the morale of the team is high," said Coach Rees. He said the first group was in excellent condition for the highly competitive schedule awaiting S-C this season, which includes some of the best teams in the state. The team has been practicing since Aug. 15. Players have been conditioning themselves most of the summer.

When asked how he viewed prospects for the coming season, Rees said, "We have a strong experienced line, our backfield has average ability and is capable of playing well."

Then, concerning the reserve strength of the team, Rees added that S-C lacks the reserves which would allow the squad to compare favorably with other area teams in that department.

The Tigers who ended last season with a 3-6-1 record, have very little depth this year, Rees said. The Bengals' line averages at around 179 pounds, while the backfield sneaks in at 159.

Rees feels that the Jefferson City Jays, who will meet Sedalia on their own field Oct. 15, are the conference favorites again this year.

The S-C roster includes:

Quarterbacks — Russell Cusick, Tom Munson, Larry Thomas, George Williams.

Centers — Ron Rees, Dennis Eding, Rusty Johnson.

Guards — Bill Herrick, Mike Wells, Dan Goosen, Ray Murray, Larry Myers, Bob Bryant, Danny Evans, Mike Gehlken, Harry Lambirth.

Tackles — Fred Kelly, Jim Lewellen, Roger Kahle, John Studer, Kenny Drenon, Dave Miesner, Sterling Howard, Robert Schilb, Joe Rains.

Ends — Joe Lamy, Jim Vinson, Larry Scantlin, Jerry Morris, Terry Arnold, Dave Pirtle, Fred Nuzum, Steve France.

The Smith-Cotton freshman football squad opens the 1965 season at Jennie Jaynes Stadium at 7:45 p. m. Monday with an intra-squad scrimmage to which parents and football fans are invited, free of charge.

Freshman coach Earl Finley has divided the squad into White and Gold teams. Foster McGuire and Paul Schwartz will officiate. Dean Ringen will help with coaching duties, Finley said. Players will be introduced before the game starts.

Some boys reporting late for the teams will also be dressed out, Finley indicated.

The Tiger freshman will play a full six game schedule this season, beginning Sept. 13, here, against Marshall.

For Monday's game, on the "White" team will be: Mike Carroll, Robbie Owen, Jeff Morris, Mike Herbst, Mark Kempton, Con Chapman, Mike Dalton, Wade Bingham, Claude Knight, John Rissler, John Cairer, Tom Riesdorph, Martin Baker, Edward Woolery, Rich Christman, Kent Davis and Mark Kitch.

On the "Gold" team: Dennis Wright, David Nichols, Glenn Holmes, Randy Green, Terry Reid, John Talbot, Kirk Davis, Don Crank, Wade McClary, Steve Hunt, Keith Cooper, David Weaver, Danny Gentges, Steve Kruse and John Joy.

Nine Lettermen Back

Jays Ready For New Try For Title

The Jefferson City Jays, who get about as much local support from the fans as any team could want, are ready for another blistering attempt at the CEMO title with nine lettermen returning to the 1965 roster.

Coach Pete Adkins, beginning his eighth year as head coach for the Jays, owns a 112-4-13 record and has his sights set for more victories this season.

After finishing first in the conference last year with a perfect 9-0 record, Adkins still expresses some pessimism. "Lack of experience at the end position is the biggest problem," he said.

Some deficiency in depth "and consistant quarterbacking could also hurt. We could be tough defensively if the team jells," he added.

The weight average of the Jefferson City line this year ranges around the 170 mark, with the backfield at 165. The Jays' bench, Adkins feels, compares favorably with the teams the school faces this season.

Adkins sees Columbia's Kewpies as the conference favorites for 1965. The Jays open the season on Sept. 10 against Truman High.

The rest of the schedule includes Raytown, Sept. 17; Hannibal, Sept. 24; Columbia, Oct. 1; Mexico, Oct. 8; Sedalia, Oct. 15; Rolla, Oct. 22; McCluer, Oct. 29; Springfield Central, Nov. 5; and Springfield Hillcrest Nov. 12.

Returning starters on the Jays' squad are Robert Walters, a halfback, weighing 170, in his senior year, and Joel Allison, tackle, 195, also a senior.

Returning lettermen: Jim Strong, end, 150; John Hurtt, end, 170; Ronnie Buske, center, 165; Larry Wilson, guard, 150; Jim Goldammer, guard, 185; Gene Schnieder, tackle, 170; Mike Reed, fullback, 170; Hart Fulow, halfback, 165; Danton Steele, quarterback, 155. All are seniors.

Assistants Named For MVC Vikings

MARSHALL, Mo. (Special)—Head Coach Volney Ashford will have two assistants — Ed Elliott and Herb McKinney — to help him ready the Missouri Valley College Vikings for their nine-game football season. Elliott, a former William Jewell football star, is new to the Viking setup, coming here from Queens College, Flushing, N.Y. McKinney, a former Viking, is a Marshall businessman who devotes part time to line coaching.

Larry Jones, a senior end from Flint, Mich., will captain the Vikings.

The season's schedule follows with MCAU conference games indicated by an asterik:

Sept. 18 — Huron College, 7:30 p. m., at Huron, S. D.

*Sept. 25 — Graceland College, 7:30 p. m., at Lamoni, Iowa.

Oct. 2 — William Penn College of Oskaloosa, Iowa, 7:30 p. m., at Marshall.

Oct. 9 — New Mexico Highlands University of Las Vegas, N. M., 7:30 p. m., at Marshall.

*Oct. 16 — Tarkio College of Tarkio, Mo., (Homecoming) 2 p. m., at Marshall.

Oct. 22 — Nebraska Wesleyan College, 7:30 p. m., at Lincoln, Neb.

Oct. 30 — Austin College, 2 p. m., at Sherman, Tex.

*Nov. 2 — Culver - Stockton College of Canton, Mo., 7:30 p. m., at Marshall.

*Nov. 13—William Jewell College, 7:30 p. m., at Liberty, Mo.

Saldivar Even Money Chance For Crown

LONDON (AP)—Vicente Saldivar, Mexican holder of the world featherweight title, is rated only an even money chance to retain his crown against British champion Howard Winstone in London Tuesday night.

Saldivar has looked impressive in training but lots of money from Wales, the home country of Winstone, made the bookies revise earlier odds which made Saldivar a clear favorite.

Way Back When...

By Pete Daniels

FOOTBALL SEASON IS just around the corner, and fans and players alike know in what way football, rugby and soccer are related. But the original "football" game was, to put it mildly, a ghastly affair prompted by a lust for revenge.

There have been historians who supported the claim that a game similar to football, or the parent of the modern game, was played by ancient Romans and even among the Spartans. However, lack of suitable evidence makes the statement suspect.

It is a known fact, however, that the Danes invaded England and that the English were unhappy about it. The feeling hadn't subsided much by the latter part of the 11th century.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of 1050 and 1075, one vindictive fellow dug up the skull of a long-dead Dane, according to one source, and forcefully propelled it to a neighboring village green.

People of the neighboring village, it may be assumed, were just as anxious to return the skull to its point of origin and the next thing you know, a game called "kicking the Dane's head" was in full swing.

The impact of toe upon skull had bruising side affects and it wasn't long before an inflated bladder was used in place of the skull. Then, too, the game got a little rough and "players" restricted themselves to vacant fields.

NATURALLY, THE SPORT became popular in a hurry and it remained primarily a kicking sport until 1823 when one William Webb Ellis of Rugby College, upset because he failed to kick the ball, picked the thing up and ran with it across the enemy goal.

Profuse apologies were in order since Ellis, permanently disgraced, had broken one of the cardinal rules of the game. Even though he didn't know it, Ellis had begun a trend. In 1860, various professional teams decided to try what Ellis had done and fans watching the games saw the merit of it. It was a lot more exciting to watch a chase than a kicking contest. Running with the ball, of course, became an integral part of the game of Rugby.

From Rugby to soccer to modern day football was a gradual evolutionary process. The rules are being changed and perfected almost yearly The game has advanced a long, long way from its grisley beginning — even the worst critic of the sport will have to admit that.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

FOOTBALL is here, and many parents realize it from the reports I have received from some that "my son is always hungry and is eating us out of house and home." Another father who is in the grocery business remarked, "that boy of mine is not only eating everything at home, but I believe if he don't settle down soon, he'll eat me into bankruptcy."

Really, it is interesting to the comments I have received the past few days when asking "how's your boy getting along? I understand he is doing alright in his football practice." Those questions and statement usually bring back funny remarks, but most of the parents are happy their son is taking an interest in athletics.

Friday night this one particular father with whom I was discussing athletics said, "I sent home a large cube steak. A little while later, I guess it was just before closing time he came in and picked up several packages of lunch meat some bologna, and a loaf of bread and went home. Later when I got home he had a half gallon of that orange drink and six 'Dagwood' sandwiches, he ate all the sandwiches and left less than a pint of drink in the carton."

He continued to say "why he's always hungry, gets up at 5:30 in the morning goes out and practices football, comes home around 10 o'clock, east, rests, and starts back about 4 o'clock and back at 7 and mother feeds him a seven course meal. But he's a growing boy, I guess. He says when I ask him why he went out for football, he replied to me 'why dad, it's a body builder' then I wonder how he carries around all that food and plays football too. But I like it," he concluded.

Coach Dick Rees, seemed to be all smiles Friday afternoon, during football practice as he watched sophomores, a few juniors and his senior football players going through their work. Rees didn't seem to mind that the boys had gone home hungry and were eating well, his interest was seeing they were learning how to play the game and do it well. Apparently he hadn't been told the boys in general were a hungry lot.

As another father remarked, "I don't mind my boy being hungry and eating well, if he'll only get out there and do when Dick Rees wants him to do. After all he is a growing boy, and eating isn't going to hurt him now, if he does it properly — in other words, eats what he needs to keep him in condition, I'll not object."

SMITH - COTTON from these early observations appears to be coming along and will be a threat this season. The team is clicking, the boys are working hard and they are displaying definite more interest than in several past seasons. From what I have heard, they seem to want to play football for the spirt that's in it rather than for what glory it might offer.

There seem to be more boys in the senior class out, the sophomore group is much larger than usual, and this is an increase year in the freshman, while the eighth graders who reported out for football this week had more than 70 boys wanting to get into the whirl. The coaches are making every effort to see that all these youngsters get to play and learn more the fundamentals of the sport.

There was no happier person around Smith-Cotton than Coach Rees when he got the report on the freshman turnout. He'll be checking them over and keep an eye on his future varsity players from this group who'll be in the upper classes, 'sooner than you think.'

Along these lines, I hate to mention it again, but this is where Sedalia needs a real Booster Club, to encourage these youngsters and help out in their meager way of support. I still wonder what these fellows are thinking about that collected the $5 dues from several and then let the project drop.

Now's the time to get something done — not two years from now.

—o—

T'AINT FAIR. That's the report from the Rod and Gun Club where John Rose was the victim of trickery. In the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club Bulletin was a notice, "Center's Gone" then continued with the following, "John Rose, an authority on clay pigeons (now), can spot a hole in one 70-yards away. Sixteen shooters saw John in action Sunday Aug. 22nd."

Investigations regarding that "hole in one" was that some of the trap boys were playing havoc with some of the crack shots at the gun club. They would knock out the center, put them on the trap and fire them away. As the pigeon sailed into the air and reached it's limit, it would suddenly drop straight down and not glide on as usual.

"I had a perfect bead on one," John is reported to have said," and it just disappeared, from my sights and I missed." He went to investigate and the boys had several of those tricky 'rocks' with holes in them in the trap and when they saw the storm approaching, one boy put a good bird over the tampered with stack and when he asked to see them a boy "accidentally" fell against the stack and it was no more. The catch came when John saw one on the trap and checked it out — yep there was a hole in it.

To make matters worse, it was reported when the good pigeons began sailing, John was reported to have missed the first three. Te apparently was all "shook-up" over his discovery.

But kidding aside, John has a good record on the traps, and that kind of treatment to a guy like John just isn't fair.

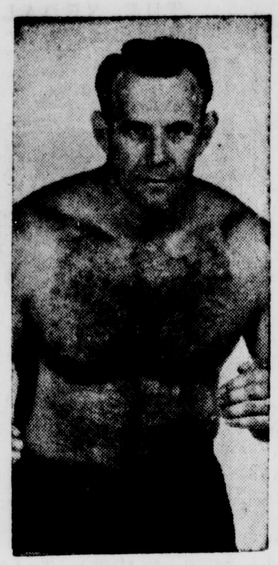

Winston Takes Top Spot In Tournament

Two six-man round robins which resulted in a father-son play-off saw W. Winston take first place in the weekly horseshoe pitching tournament at Liberty Park Thursday night. E. Winston took second.

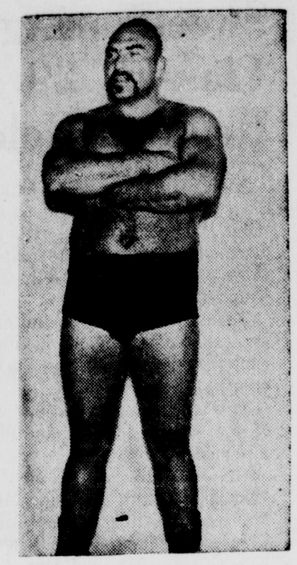

In another round-robin, McCune took first, Tood, second; Mullins, third; and Carr, fourth.

Besides the two Winstons, other placing were D. Morley, C. Martin, Larson, C. Rush, C. Faulkner, G. Morley, C. Bass, H. Edwards, J. Smethers and B. Barnes.

'Ox' Will Enliven First Pro Wrestling Card Here

Appearance of the giant Ox promises to enliven the first professional wrestling card of the new season at Convention Hall Tuesday night.

The brawny Ox, "likes everybody," will display his scuffling style in a pairing with Big Jim Grabmire as part of the four - event action which will get under way at :15 p. m.

The Ox came on the scene in midsummer when he challenged some of the area heavyweights in a Kansas City ring. While he has no real knowledge of the intricacies of wrestling, his size so far has been enough to keep him from getting hurt. The Ox, whose trademark in ring appearances is a pair of spectacles and an old trenchcoat and army hat, scales close to 300 and is virtually unmovable once he takes his stance in the ring.

Heading the hall action Tuesday will be a heavyweight tag team pairing. In that event, burly Bob Geigel will line up with Bob Brown as the two rowdise oppose the speed-minded tandem of Thor Hagen and the husky Stomper.

Hagen is back in the area ring to challenge for supremacy he once held in this section. The Stomper figures to be around most of the new season. He came in at the drag end of last season's action and still managed to break the top five rankings.

Separate events Tuesday will send Geigel against the Stomper, Hagen against Brown.

Intra-Squad Game Set For Mules

WARRENSBURG, (Special)—A "Meet the Mules" night, when students, faculty and community get their first look at Central Missouri State's football team in action, has been scheduled for 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Jesse Zink, assistant director of student activities, and Earl Keth, athletic director, have drawn up the program which will include spotlight introductions followed by a Red-White intra-squad game.

Keth will introduce coach Kenny Robb who in turn will introduce his assistants. After a presentation of cheerleaders, each football player will be introduced.

There will be a silent tribute to William Allen, St. Louis, an incoming CMS freshman who died of a nerve reaction and cardiac arrest during practice last Tuesday.

After Roscoe the Mule, the team mascot, is introduced the Red and White game will complete the program. Officials for the game are Lee Hoeflicker, Kenny Church, Earl Euler, and Lon Larson, all of Warrensburg.

Zink has two other events planned for the evening for the entertainment of incoming students. There will be a sports dance at Pertle Springs Lodge, from 7 to 10 p. m., with music by "The Escorts," the campus band.

At Hendricks Hall in the Administration Building the movie "The Hustlers" will be shown.

Admission to all three of the Tuesday night events is free.

Dean, Hubbell Will Recreate Old Duel

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Their pitching motion won't be as fluid as they once were, and their fast balls may look like golf putts, but Dizzy Dean and Carl Hubbell—baseball giants of the 30s—will try to recreate one of their classic duels Monday in the Astrodome.

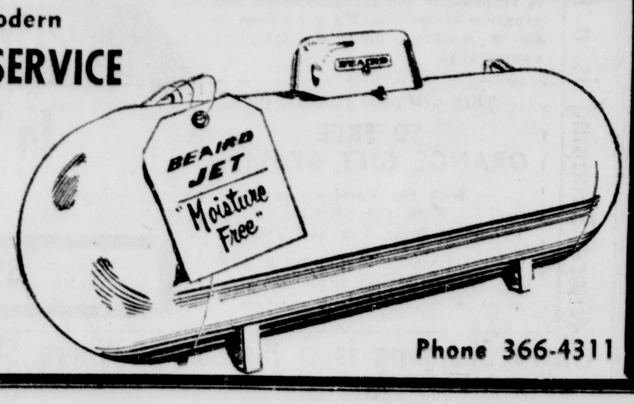

Dean and Hubbell are the starters in an old timers' game between the Immortals and the Texas All-Stars.

They are among 12 Hall of Famers scheduled to appear. The others are Joe DiMaggio, Lefty Grove, Bob Feller, Jimmy Foxx, Bill Dickey, Ted Lyons, Heinie Manush, Luke Appling, Frankie Frisch and Burleigh Grimes.

American League

White Sox 5, Twins 4

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Chicago cracked four extra-base hits off Jim Grant and got tight pitching from John Buzhardt and Hoyt Wilhelm Saturday, trimming Minnesota, 5-4 and slicing the American League leaders' margin to 6½ games.

The second-place White Sox collected only six hits, but four were doubles by Pete Ward, Tom McCraw, Ron Hansen and Don Buford and another was Ken Berry's 10th home run.

Berry's two-out homer in the seventh inning broke a 3-3 tie. The White Sox added a run in the eighth when Buford singled off reliever Bill Pleis, moved to second on a ground out, to third on a passed ball and stole home.

That turned out to be the margin of victory after the Twins rallied for a run in the ninth on a double by Rich Rollins.

Grant, the league's top winner with 17 victories, left for a pinch hitter after giving up four runs in seven innings.

Red Sox 1-7, Yankees 0-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Gosger rapped three hit , driving in two runs and scoring another, as Boston defeated the New York Yankees 7-2 in the second game and completed a sweep of a doubleheader Saturday night.

Rico Petrocelli's run-scoring single in the eighth inning of the opener gave the Red Sox a 1-0 victory behind Dave Morehead's three-hit pitching.

Gosger singled in the third inning of the nightcap and eventually scored on Jack Cullen's wild pitch, breaking a 1-1 tie and putting Boston ahead to stay. Gosger tripled home a run in the fifth and knocked another across in the sixth as he beat out an infield single.

Tony Conigliaro, part of a triple play the Yankees pulled in the second inning, tripled in a run in the sixth and scored on Gosger's hit.

Starter Dennis Bennett, 5-3, held the Yankees to six hits one of them Mickey Mantle's 19th home run, before he was forced to leave in the sixth.

Senators 1, Tigers 0

DETROIT (AP)—Don Lock's two-out single in the eighth inning scored Ken McMullen with the only run of the game, giving the Washington Senators a 1-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

Washington starting pitcher Jim Duckworth struck out eight of the first nine batters he faced and had 11 before giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The only hits off Duckworth were a leadoff single by Don Wert in the fourth and a single by Ray Oyler in the seventh.

Ron Kline gave up a pair of singles and a walk in the Detroit eighth but preserved Duckworth's first victory of the season.

Detroit's Dave Wickersham, now 7-13, scattered seven hits through seven innings.

Orioles 1, Indians 0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Luis Aparicio's single in the 11th inning, only the fourth Baltimore hit, drove in Dave Johnson and gave the Orioles a 1-0 victory over Cleveland Saturday night.

The Orioles broke through immediately after Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts took out starter Sam McDowell at the start of the inning. McDowell had allowed only two hits and had struck out 16 when Tebbetts decided he had gone far enough.

With Bob Tiefenauer pitching, Jerry Adair opened the 11th with a double. Charley Lau then was intentionally passed and Russ Snyder hit into a force play. Johnson then went into the run for Lau and raced home as Aparicio singled to center.

McDowell, who lifted his American League-leading strikeout total to 276, was in a duel with Baltimore starter Steve Barber until Stu Miller came on for the Orioles in the 10th. Barber allowed only seven hits.

National League

Dodgers 5, Astros 0

HOUSTON (AP) — Maury Wills triggered a five-run outburst in the fourth inning with a single and crafty baserunning, and four Los Angeles pitchers combined for a shutout as the National League-leading Dodgers whipped Houston 5-0 Saturday.

Jim Brewer started for Los Angeles but had to leave in the fourth because of a sore left elbow. John Podres took over and hurled until Don Drysdale, making his second relief appearance of the season, came on in the eighth and put down a one-out, bases-loaded threat.

Drysdale then departed for a pinch hitter in the ninth, and Ron Perranoski finished up.

All told, the Astros had five hits, only one until the seventh.

Wills' stolen base was his 84th of the season.

Braves 8, Pirates 3

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tony Cloninger became the major league's second 20-game winner Saturday as the Milwaukee Braves, sparked by Felipe Alou's three-run home run, sloshed their way to a rain-splattered 8-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The game was finally called after 7 1-3 innings.

The victory kept the Braves two games behind National League-leading Los Angeles. The fifth-place Pirates fell 5½ back.

Cloninger, who joined Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the select 20-game circle, was touched for 10 hits and two runs in pitching six innings plus.

He was relieved by Billy O'Dell after putting the first two batters on in the seventh inning. O'Dell got out of the jam.

Alou's homer, off reliever Wilbur Wood, was the big blast of the first inning, which also featured four singles, all off starter Bob Friend.

Giants 7, Cubs 3

CHICAGO (AP) — A pair of home runs by Jim Hart and Willie Mays' 42nd with a mate aboard carried the San Francisco Giants to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

Rain delayed the start of the game and additional showers interrupted play in the third and fifth innings, threatening to wash out the 4-0 Giant lead.

The Giants jumped on starter Bob Buhl in the first inning when Dick Schofield beat out an infield hit and, with two outs, Willie McCovey doubled home a run, Hart slammed his 18th homer and Hal Lanier doubled in another run.

Mays blasted his homer in the sixth after Len Gabrielson walked.

Get Big Downpour

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—More than one inch of rain fell in the Hannibal area in less than one hour this morning, causing minor flash flooding in low-lying parts of town.

Across the Mississippi River in Illinois, a small twister reportedly damaged three units of the Colonial Inn Motel on U. S. 36. None of the occupants, including motel manager Joseph Loman, was injured.

A total of 1.88 inches of rain fell between 5 a. m. and noon.

Note of Acrimony

Ashe Ousts Gene Scott After Delay Of 2 Hours

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Davis Cupper Arthur Ashe weathered the sternest threat to seeded ranks by knocking off veteran Gene Scott Saturday 6-3, 6-4, 9-7 in the second day of the National Tennis Championships marked by a note of acrimony.

Scott, a former Yale University ace overlooked recently in Davis Cup selections, had to warm his heels for nearly an hour waiting for the fifth-seeded Ashe, delayed in traffic.

Obviously unsettled after starting two hours behind schedule, Scott, 27, from St. James, N.Y., lost 12 of the first 15 points and never recovered.

Earlier, Karen Hantze Susman, the 22-year-old housewife from St. Louis who won the Wimbledon title three years ago, withdrew from the tournament in a huff because she wasn't seeded and drew top-rated Margaret Smith of Australia in the first round.

Seeded players are granted $28 a day living expenses.

The rest of the tournament proceeded on a calm and routine note for a gallery of more than 9,000 — the biggest second day crowd in the 50 years the event has been played on the grass of the West Side Tennis Club.

Top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia, who appears a shoo-in for his third U.S. men's title, toyed with Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador 6-1, 6-3, 8-6. Manuel Santana of Spain, No. 4, the nemesis of the U.S. Davis Cup team, ousted Don Fontana of Canada 6-3, 6-1, 5-7, 6-1.

Chuck McKinley, the former No. 1 U.S. star now semiretired to a Wall Street brokerage job, carried his No. 7 seeding past bespectacled Steve Wilkinson of Sioux City, Iowa, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.

"It's a lot looser playing out there when you don't have to win," said McKinley. "I haven't lost much in the year I've been off the circuit. I'd like to win."

He has won Wimbledon — in 1963 — but never gone farther than the semifinals in his own national championship.

With Miss Smith idle, Nancy Richey of Dallas, fourth seeded and America's best bet to break the overseas monopoly of the women's crown, was the highest rated player to advance.

The sandy-thatched, business-like Miss Richey, one of a brother-sister team, trounced Pat Stewart Edrich, a shapely former air line hostess, 6-3, 6-2. Advancing with her was eight-seeded Norma Baylon of Argentina, winner over Rosemary Casals of San Francisco 6-3, 6-4.

Effortless Coasting

Emerson, McKinley Advance In Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia and his onetime chief rival for world tennis honors, Chuck McKinley, coasted effortlessly into the second round Saturday in the 85th National Championships.

Emerson, the sinewy Queenslander who is in a class by himself as an amateur, practiced his ground strokes in toying with Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador 6-1, 6-3, 8-6.

McKinley, the 1963 Wimbledon winner who retired from tennis a year ago to become a Wall Street broker, showed no loss of his old acrobatic talent and court-covering enthusiasm in smashing Steve Wilkinson of Sioux City, Iowa, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.

Seeded seventh, McKinley made it quite clear that he isn't playing in this tournament just for kicks.

"I'd like to win," he said after his match. "There's much going for me. I haven't lost too much of my edge — just a little ability to concentrate. I am much looser because I have everything to win."

A crowd of 8,000 swarmed into the concrete oval of the West Side Tennis Club and hung over wooden fences to watch the completion of the first round matches in both men's and women's singles.

Nothing exciting happened.

Nancy Richey, America's No. 1 woman player but seeded fourth here, easily beat Pat Stewart Edrich of New York 6-3, 6-2. Norma Baylon of Argentina, seeded eighth, won over Rosemary Casals of San Francisco 6-3, 6-4.

The 27-year-old Emerson obviously played well within himself in the match against Zuleta.

There were some interesting rallies, marked by delicate touch shots, sharp angles and lobs, but when the pressure got tight, Emerson discarded his foolishness and got down to brass tacks.

Nancy Richey of Dallas, at No. 4 top-seeded among the Americans, won her first match easily, beating pretty Pat Stewart Edrich on the stadium's center court, 6-3, 6-2.

Flees With A Wig

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A would-be attacker fled from his victim Saturday with nothing but a handful of hair — his victim's wig.

Mrs. Thelma Brooks, 22, of suburban Robertson, told police she was walking near her home when the man grabbed her by the hair.

The hair, a black wig worth $200, came off and the man fled with it. Mrs. Brooks was not injured.

US Rallies For Tie In Golf

BALTIMORE (AP) — The United States Walker Cup team rallied from five points behind and charged to a tie with Great Britain Saturday in the finals of the international amateur golf competition.

The Britons apparently had it sewed up when they led 10-5 going into the last eight singles. They quickly increased the margin to 11-7, needing only one more victory to clinch their second triumph since the international competition began in 1922.

The United States, however, won four of the five last singles and halved the other — on which no points are awarded — to gain the first tie in Walker Cup history.

Billy Joe Patton climaxed the whirlwind comeback with a 4 and 2 victory over Mike Lunt.

In all the U.S. amateurs won six of the last eight singles and halved the other.

Quarter Horse Show Underway At Fairgrounds

The 1965 quarter horse division of the Missouri State Fair Horse Show is in progress at the coliseum on the fair grounds, opening Saturday and will continue through Monday. Over $5,150 in premiums are to be awarded in this show.

The show is approved by the American Quarter Horse Association and the Missouri Association. Cutting events are approved under the rules of the National Cutting Horse Association and also the Missouri Association.

Saturday's opening saw 168 entries being shown, while Sunday it is expected a larger number of entries will arrive to participate in the classes to be held on Sunday and also on Monday.

Superintendent of the show is George Nix of Sedalia while the judges are J. D. Craft of Jacksboro, Tex., judging performance, halter and cutting classes, and Roy Williams, Lone Jack, Mo., who is also judging the cutting horse classes. Sam Preston, South Greenfield, Mo., is the show announcer.

Wilbert C. Askew, secretary of the fair, has announced there is no admission charge being made for either entrance to the grounds or show, nor are there any parking fees being charged.

Seven New Members For Hall Of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Seven new members will be enshrined in the National Professional Football Hall of Fame here next Sunday afternoon, increasing the membership to 31.

The enshrinement ceremonies will highlight a weekend program which also will include a parade, a banquet in honor of the inductees and the fourth annual Hall of Fame football game.

Dr. Dan Fortmann, Sid Luckman, Otto Graham, Paddy Driscoll, Bob Waterfield, Steve Van Buren and Guy Chamberlain will be enshrined in ceremonies at Fawcett Stadium just 30 minutes before the game between the Detroit Lions and Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Body Not Identified

BOWLING GREEN, Mo. (AP) —Sheriff James Marshall said Saturday he has been unable to identify the body of a man found last Sunday in a ravine near Route V, eight miles northwest of Bowling Green.

The man, between 35 and 40 years old, had been shot in the head and chest two to six weeks before his body was found by two boys playing in a wooded area.

The man was about 5-foot-9, weighed 165 pounds and was wearing blue shirt and jeans.

Hammer Throw Mark

BUDAPEST (AP) — Gyula Zsivotzky of Hungary bettered the world hammer throw record Saturday when he heaved the 16-pound weight 241 feet, 11 inches in a meet at Debrecen.

Hal Connolly of Culver City, Calif., holds the listed record of 231-10 but bettered that mark with a 233-2 at Modesto, Calif., on May 31.

Zsivotzky was silver medalist behind Romuald Klim of Russia in the Olympics at Tokyo last year.

24 Boys Sign Up For Soccer

In spite of rain and mud, 24 youngsters signed up for the 1965 Khoury Soccer League after Saturday's practice, Paul Klover, district supervisor, said. Besides these, 250 boys who saw action in the league last year will return this season, he said.

About 22 teams are scheduled to see action in the league this year. There will be six teams each in the Atom, Bantam and Midget classes, with four in the Junior class.

Two practice sessions were held Saturday, with 35 youngsters showing up in the morning and 50 in the afternoon. Though the turnout was less than originally expected, Khoury officials nevertheless were gratified by the number of boys signed.

The season opens Sept. 18, with Atom and Bantam league action, while the Midgets and Juniors will play Sept. 19.

From that time on, six games nightly are scheduled Monday through Wednesday at Centennial Park or the Babe Ruth baseball diamond.

Klover said Saturday night that three additional managers are needed this year. Anyone desiring to take an active part in the program can call him at TA 6-7973.

Swords Are Stolen

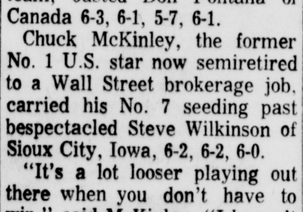

TONBRIDGE, England (AP) — Twenty Japanese ceremonial swords and a number of small ivory figures were stolen during the night from Chiddingstone Castle, 15th century home of Denys Bower.

The swords and figures were valued at $11,200 police said Saturday.

Oppoition to Johnson Displayed In Varied Ways

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A University of Kansas student, unhappy about President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam, slashed his own wrist and smeared blood on a campus bulletin board.

The student, Charles Hook of Glen Head, N.Y., said this rather startling action last March was "purely spontaneous and an individual gesture." But less dramatic displays of displeasure with Johnson's decisions have become quite commonplace, though apparently reflecting only minority opinion.

This has been a year for teach-ins, sit-ins and hunger strikes, all reflecting various degrees of opposition to various presidential policies.

Johnson's public reaction generally has been restrained, but his sensitivity to almost any criticism is marked and, in private, often stormy.

Publicly, Johnson insists he welcomes democratic debate and abhors blind conformity. On those occasions when he has uttered stronger statements, he usually has criticised the press which often brings him first news of dissent and, in his view, promotes conflict by publicizing his critics.

A year ago, Johnson seemed to enjoy miraculous immunity to the barbs that all presidents encounter, usually sooner than later. When harsh words were heard, they normally fell into the category of partisan campaign utterances or dealt with such side issues as the President's automobile driving and his dog-handling practices.

However, this year has seen development of an often noisy undercurrent of minority criticism embracing such major issues as Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic — plus civil rights, American representation at the Churchill funeral, Johnson's shelving of Washington visits by the leaders of India and Pakistan, and his relations with news media.

With all this, though, the polls show Johnson's standing with American voters has remained exceptionally high on all significant questions — including Viet Nam.

Criticism began soon after Johnson was inaugurated as President in his own right. First he offended an important, if unmeasureable, portion of the populace by sending Chief Justice Earl Warren — rather than Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey — to represent the United States at the London funeral of Sir Winston Churchill.

Since then, restraint has been his watchword. He waited nearly six hours for example, to authorize the removal from the White House of 12 young people who staged a sit-in critical of his civil rights policies. More recently, two days elapsed before opponents of the war in Viet Nam were hauled away in paddy wagons after blocking White House entrances in a sit-down demonstration.

About two months ago, Johnson put his public reaction into words in a statement that referred indirectly to teach-ins and other displays of opposition to administration policy in Viet Nam:

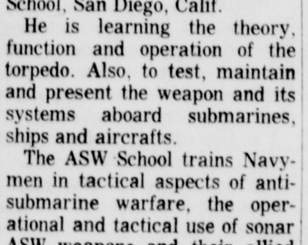

"How rare is the land and extraordinary the people who freely allow, and really encourage, as I have on many occasions, the citizens of our nation to discuss and to debate their nation's policies in time of danger.

"We welcome and we ask for new ideas from serious and concerned men and women, from universities and journals and public platforms all across the land. We are constantly searching for views and proposals which might strengthen and unite and help our government."

Then he added a word about what has become his greatest concern about vocal dissidents:

"Let no one ever think for a moment that national debate means national division."

Where handling of criticism is concerned, there is evidence that Johnson has grown in the presidency, despite his thin skin.

Airman Third Class Chester L. Zuck Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Zuck of Route 1, Eldon, has been selected for technical training at Sheppard AFB, Texas, as a U. S. Air Force construction specialist.

Airman Zuck, a graduate of Eldon High School, recently completed basic military training at Lackland AFB, Texas.

San Diego, Cailf. (Special)—Seaman Apprentice Darrell L. Edmonds, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Edmonds, Route 1, Lincoln, is attending an eight-week Underseas Weapons Course at the U. S. Fleet Anti-Submarine Warfare (ASW) School, San Diego, Calif.

He is learning the theory, function and operation of the torpedo. Also, to test, maintain and present the weapon and its systems aboard submarines, ships and aircrafts.

The ASW School trains Navymen in tactical aspects of anti-submarine warfare, the operational and tactical use of sonar ASW weapons and their allied equipments, and in the operational, preventative and technical maintenance and manipulation of these weapons and equipment.

Qui Nhon, Viet Nam (Special) --Marine Lance Corporal Larry M. Blankenship son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Blankenship, 703 Wilkerson, is serving with Marines defending the airfield in the Qui Nhon sector of Viet Nam.

The Marines arrived at the south-central Viet Nam outpost July 7, and immediately began search and clear operations. Such operations are a vital part of the Marine role of providing proper defense of military installations they have been assigned to protect.

It is estimated there are about 192,000 railroad bridges of various kinds in the United States.

State Fair Results

The largest number of rabbits since 1960 was entered this year at the Missouri State Fair.

Extreme hot weather and high humidity forced much of the judging to be completed in the evening. Judges Marvin Kroening, Marshfield, Wisconsin, and Cecil Green, St. Joseph, Missouri, stated the excellent quality Missouri raised rabbits were again exhibited in 1965.

Kroening said the rabbits entered this year are far superior to northern raised rabbits of his section of the country. Green has exhibited at the Missouri State Fair since 1950 without interruption. W. E. Molen, superintendent, said interest indicates an even larger number of entries in 1966.

The grand champion of the show, an intermediate black Checkered Giant buck owned by W. E. Molen, Kansas City. The reserve grand champion was a junior white New Zealand doe, owned by Donald Sanders, Camden, Mo.

Results in this area in the rabbit show are as follows:

TV Color Switch Has Problems

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television's big switch to color this season brings with it certain problems. For instance: How to photograph a doctor show.

"Dr. Kildare" is debuting Sept. 13 in color, and MGM and NBC are wary about how the more vivid aspects of the hospital series will appear on the home screen.

A scene involving the victim of burns was shot over because the makeup appeared just a bit too realistic in the rushes. "Ben Casey," which is struggling along in its fifth season with black-and-white, has no such problems.

Color is not the only thing new about "Dr. Kildare." After four successful years, the hour series has been split into half-hours for presentation on Monday and Tuesday nights.

"I'm really curious to learn how the show will be received," said the young doc, Richard Chamberlain. "I cannot imagine what is going to happen. There is no precedent, no way to predict."

The change follows the pattern of the multi-night "Peyton Place," but "Dr. Kildare" differs in being an established show that has turned serial. Except that you're not supposed to mention the word "serial."

"It's not really one," explained Chamberlain. "The concept is not so much a continuing story as it is a three-parter or more. For instance, we are doing a six-parter on kidney disease, in which only a certain number of dying persons can be treated on a new machine. The drama comes out of which ones are chosen.

Red Playwrights Get Plot Orders

Through Tricky Jungle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Through the tricky jungle of federal bureaucracy, a slim woman named Irene Parsons moves with the surefootedness of one who knows where she's going.

At this point she has reached the loftiest personnel post in government ever held by a woman — the $22,000-a-year job of assistant administrator for personnel of the Veterans Administration.

Luckily for the 170,000 employes under her supervision, Irene Parsons couldn't act like a stereotyped boss-lady if her pension depended on it.

She is, rather, one of the new breed of women executives that President Johnson likes to lure into government's higher circles:

They're attractive and feminine without flaunting sex, decisive without being dictatorial, intelligent without showing off and instinctively considerate of others without thinking of it as an instrument of policy. Their secretaries like working for them. So do their male colleagues.

A VA executive who Miss Parsons used to work for and who now reports to her says, "I don't think of it as having a woman in the job. I think of it as Irene Parsons, and that's delightful."

Brown-haired, brown-eyed Miss Parsons herself gives her gamin grin. "I haven't run into any unfavorable reaction," she says. "Of course, I've worked with a lot of these men during the years . . . I believe they will cooperate with me fully.

"I've been lucky in being associated with some able men who didn't discriminate, but I've certainly seen evidence of discrimination against women in government and studies have shown it existed.

"It's improving now, as more women are being brought in and they demonstrate they can do a job well. Lots of men in high position have never worked before with women, or with minority groups either."

Equal job opportunies is a major plank in Miss Parsons' platform. Because of her efforts as personnel director for two VA departments, she was cited by Ebony magazine in an article that called the Veterans Administration "the most integrated agency" in govenment.

"I've always said that anyone who discriminates against the Negro will discriminate against women," says the North Carolina born and educated executive. "If they do it toward one, they'll do it toward any group."

She views her new job as one of seeing "that we have good staffing and the best talent we can get and that employes are well treated so they can give the best possible service to the veterans. After all, the VA was not set up to serve the personnel but the personnel set up to serve veterans."

Miss Parsons had been sizing up people for jobs for more years than you'd guess, looking at her. Her face is youthful, her figure supple, but she insists her only exercise has been walking up to her old third-floor office in the morning. "Now that I've been elevated to the 11th floor, I'll have to think of something else to keep fit," she says.

After graduating from the University of North Carolina in 1941 she taught school a year, worked for the Civil Service Commission, became a lieutenant in the Coast Guard doing personnel work in World War II and joined the Veterans Administration in 1946 as a $3,000-a-year-personnel assistant.

Now she ranks first among the 50,000 women in the VA, the third largest government agency. (Only Defense and Post Office are larger).

One of her immediate tasks in the new job is taking a look at personnel policies throughout the agency, which operates 169 hospitals and 66 regional offices.

"Just because we've had a policy for years doesn't necessarily mean it's the best," she says.

"It was the President himself who told a seminar for students that if they accepted everything in government it wasn't the place for them."

She is keenly aware of the customary criticisms of bureaucracy.

"People often feel government employes are conformists, going along with things as they are. But a lot of employes are trying to stand for the right, and at all times. It's the only course, I think, and it doesn't have an adverse effect on your career."

"I don't have any regrets as far as the work I've chosen or the places I've worked," says the unmarried Miss Parsons.

"I go to some parties and receptions, and go out with friends to dinner. But I devote a lot of time to work."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, Sept. 5, the 248th day of 1965. There are 117 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1774, the First Continental Congress met in Philadelphia. It was, in a sense, the beginning of the United States, as expressed by Patrick Henry, when he said, "I am not a Virginian, but an American."

On this date

In 1775, the deportation of some 6,000 Acadians began in Nova Scotia. The expulsion by the British gave Henry Longfellow the historical background for his poem, "Evangeline."

In 1905, the Treaty of Portsmouth (New Hampshire) was signed, ending the Russo-Japanese war. President Theodore Roosevelt received the Nobel Peace Prize for bringing the warring nations together.

In 1929, Premier Aristide Briand of France offered the League of Nations a plan for a United States of Europe.

In 1939 President Franklin D. Roosevelt proclaimed United States neutrality in the war in Europe.

In 1949, flier William Odom was killed when his plane crashed in the national air races near Cleveland.

Ten years ago — Continuing floods in India and East Pakistan wrecked more than 28,000 villages and left 45 million persons homeless.

Five years ago — The Labor Department issued a report showing a rise of 40 per cent in buying power of the average factory worker since the end of World War II.

One year ago—Typhoon Ruby killed 15 persons in Hong Kong and more than 700 in Red China's Kwangtung Province.

Farewell Event Honors Family of R. Beesley

More than 100 persons attended a farewell basket dinner Aug. 20 for Dr. and Mrs. Richard V. Beesley and sons at Presbyterian Church, Versailles. Fellowship Class was host group. A gift was presented the honorees.

The family left Sept. 1 for Wheaton, Ill., where Dr. Beesley will be an instructor at Wheaton College.

The infamous sea lamprey is an eel-shaped, parasitic, scaleless, bloodsucking fish which sometimes attains a length of three feet. During the early 1930s the sea lamprey found its way into the Great Lakes. Its first and principal victims were lake trout, which it almost succeeded in exterminating to the point of extinction until a government control program was directed against the pests.

At Teachers Meeting

23 New Teachers Introduced Into Sedalia School System

Twenty-three new teachers were introduced Tuesday to the 187 teachers of the Sedalia Community Teachers Association by Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of Sedalia schools. Twelve of the 23 are replacements and additions to Smith-Cotton faculty and the others to the various elementary schools.

Norris also announced that Mrs. Josephine Purnell will again teach English at Hubbard Division of Smith-Cotton High School. The new teachers and their respective positions are as follows:

Mrs. Judith Boillot, grade three at Washington School. Mrs. Boillot is a graduate of the University of Missouri and taught last year in the Jefferson City schools.

Mrs. Myra Brauer, English at Smith-Cotton High School. Mrs. Brauer received her degree from Central Missouri State College.

Miss Sandra Bridgman, grade four at Jefferson School. Miss Bridgman is a graduate of East Texas Baptist College. She taught in the Sedalia schools in 1962-63 and the Little Rock schools 1963-64 and 1964-65.

Mrs. Geraldine Brown, grades five, six, and seven arithmetic at Mark Twain School. Mrs. Brown is a graduate of Central Missouri State College and has taught in the county rural schools.

Theodore Brown, mathematics at Smith-Cotton High School. Brown received his degree from the University of Wichita and taught at Versailles last year.

Mrs. Mary Lee Cornell, English at Smith-Cotton High School. Mrs. Cornell is a graduate of Southwest Missouri State College. She taught at Smith-Cotton in 1963-64 and in Sturgeon, Mo., in 1964-65.

Mrs. Pauline Cowherd, grade one at Horace Mann School. Mrs. Cowherd received her degree from Central Missouri State College.

Mrs. Janette Craig, English at Smith-Cotton High School. Mrs. Craig is a graduate of Central Missouri State College and taught at Wellington, Mo., last year.

Mrs. Mary Jane Crouch, speech correctionist for all schools. Mrs. Crouch received her degree from the University of Missouri.

Mrs. Patty Lou Ferrari, grades five, six, and seven reading at Whittier School. Mrs. Ferrari is a graduate of Central Missouri State College and has taught in the Bonne Terre and Ferguson, Mo., schools.

Mrs. Kay Ferris, grade one or three at Washington School. Mrs. Ferris, a graduate of the University of Missouri, taught in Overland Park, Kan., in 1964-65.

Miss Jo Sharon Harris, citizenship at Smith-Cotton High School. Miss Harris received her degree from Kansas State College, Pittsburg, Kan.

Miss Charla Hurtt, English at Smith-Cotton High School. Miss Hurtt received her B. S. degree from the University of Missouri.

Mrs. Betty Bob Jones, grade five, six and seven science at Washington School. Mrs. Jones is a graduate of Central Missouri State College and has previously taught in the Sedalia Public Schools.

Verrel Martin, social studies at Smith-Cotton High School. Martin received his degree from Central Missouri State College.

Mrs. Linda Reed, home economics at Smith-Cotton High School. Mrs. Reed is a graduate of the University of Missouri.

Dr. Bruce Riddle, Principal of Smith-Cotton High School and Hubbard Division. Dr. Riddle received his MA degree from New York University and his doctors degree from the University of Oklahoma. He taught at the University of Missouri in 1964-65.

Mrs. Mary B. Smith, physical education at Smith-Cotton High School. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Central Missouri State College and has substituted one year at Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Barbara Stock, English at Smith-Cotton High School. Mrs. Stock received her degree from the University of Missouri.

Conrad Trout, social studies at Smith-Cotton High School. Trout is a graduate of the University of Missouri.

Mrs. Anne Wallace, grades five, six and seven English at Horace Mann School. Mrs. Wallace received her B.S. degree from Central Missouri State College.

Mrs. Juanita G. Berry will be secretary at Hubbard Division, Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Margaret Yoder will be secretary at Whittier School.

Dr. Norris announced resignations since Sept., 1964 as follows:

Mrs. Ramona Bass, secretary at Hubbard Division, Smith-Cotton High School.

Donald Brown, grade five at Washington School.

Mrs. Charlene Bunger, grade two at Heber U. Hunt.

Mrs. Helen Burk, home economics at Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Susan Callis, English at Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Marilyn Cantrell, grade five at Heber U. Hunt School.

Mrs. Velma Curtis, secretary at Whittier School.

Mrs. Mary Folkerts, English at Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Vesta Miller, grade four at Jefferson School.

Mrs. Carollann Reider, physical education at Smith-Cotton High School.

Linda Risden, physical education at Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Judith Wertz, social studies at Smith-Cotton High School.

Leaves of absence were granted to the following:

Mary Jo Laffoon, grade seven at Whittier School.

Mrs. Ellen Rodgers, English at Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Melinda Stansbury, grade two at Washington School.

Teachers who have retired since September, 1964 are:

Forrest L. Drake, Principal at Smith-Cotton High School.

Miss Beulah Harris, mathematics at Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, grade seven at Horace Mann School.

Pinkney Miller, COE at Smith-Cotton High School.

Nannie E. Sims, speech correctionist all schools.

Miss Mila Swearingen, English at Smith-Cotton High School.

Mrs. Georgia Zulauf, grade three at Horace Mann School.

Mrs. Ruth Painter was transfered from reading at Mark Twain School to grade four at Washington.

Norris emphasized that regular classes begin Tuesday, Sept. 7. Schools will be dismissed Thursday and Friday, Oct. 7 and 8 for the District Teachers Meeting in Warrensburg. They will also be dismissed Thursday and Friday, Nov. 25 and 26 for Thanksgiving and on Thursday, Dec. 23 for Christmas. The schools begin again on Monday, Jan. 3, 1966, and dismiss Tuesday Feb. 22 for Washington's birthday, and again on Thursday April 7 for Easter vacation and resume again on April 12. The last full day of school for students will be May 27, and they will return Wednesday afternoon, June 1 at 1 p.m. for grade cards.

The CTA meeting was opened by Mrs. Edith Donath, president, who introduced Robert Cummings, music director. Cummings introduced Miss Diana Gray and Tom Trout, who sang two songs "If You Were the Only Girl," and "This Nearly Was Mine." They were accompanied by Miss Penny Nichols.

Mrs. Louella Browder, secretary, read the minutes of the last CTA meeting and also some communications. Harold Johnson gave the treasurer's report. Following this, a 27 minute film was shown entitled "The East Room of the White House," which contained in full President Johnson's speech to the National Education Association Convention at New York City from June 26 to July 2 of this year. Mrs. Donath and James Braden were the Sedalia representatives to the N.E.A. Convention whose these was "Education for World Responsibility."

A film strip was shown entitled "The NEA Highlights of 1965." The film stressed the four major breakthroughs in education in 1965 as being vast improvement in racial relations, successful application of professional sanctions and professional negotiations when and where needed, and federal aid to education, particularly in elementary and secondary education.

Mrs. Donath announced that the NEA now has 943,000 members, an increase of 43,000 members since last year. She stated that the Convention for 1966 will be held in Miami, Fla., from June 26 to July 1, the theme being "Free to Teach."

Another convention which Mrs. Donath attended was one sponsored by the Missouri State Teachers Association in August at the Bunker Hill teachers resort in Southeast Missouri. After presenting a report on this, Mrs. Donath then explained her committee appointments for the year for the local organization. P. A. Sillers, Director of Elementary Education, then explained the schedules which the teachers were to follow during the week from Sept. 1 to Sept. 7.

LBJ'S PERSONAL TOUCH — President Johnson personally stepped back into the steel negotiations, urging negotiators to "stick right at it" in an effort to reach a settlement. Johnson is shown walking through the White House gates upon returning from the Executive Offices Building across the street, where negotiations are going on. Behind Johnson are Bill Moyers, left, press secretary, and Joseph A. Califano, Jr., a presidential aide. (UPI)

TROOPS AT THE READY—This picture, released by Indian government sources, shows Indian troops manning automatic weapons as they move forward to capture Haji Pir Hill Pass in Kashmir. Pakistani government spokesmen claimed that a massive attack by regular Pakistani troops had smashed through Indian defenses six to eight miles inside Indian territory in Kashmir. (UPI)

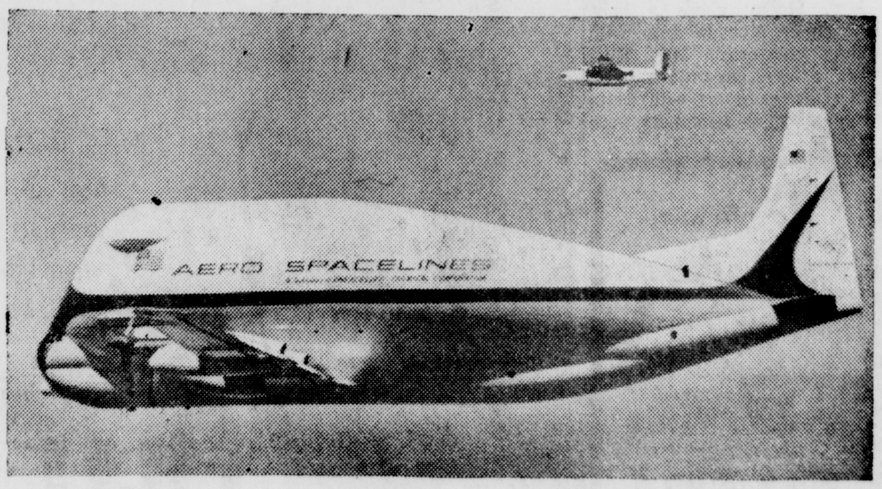

KISS FROM LBJ—Mrs. Claire Engle, widow of the late Senator from California, got a pen and a kiss from President Johnson after the Chief Executive signed into law legislation establishing the Auburn-Folsome Project in California. It is designed to provide multiple purpose water uses for flood control, power and recreation. (UPI)

LOOKING FOR "MOMMIE"—It's a big day in Chicago for children of St. Vincent's orphanage as they are surprised with gift dolls "looking for mothers." Dolls totter when they "walk" and need stabilizing hand of orphanage's "mothers-to-be," claims manufacturer who donated them. With the children are Sister Mary Alice, Superior, (dark habit) and Sister Mary Timothy. (UPI)

IT'S A DOG'S LIFE—Katie Zanon, 12, Denver, Colo., and her seven-year-old pug Suki, try out a new twist on a bicycle built for two. Katie and Suki adopted this method of travel early in the summer and found it to their liking. (UPI)

IT FLIES?—The world's largest plane, the Super Guppy, takes to the air for the first time in California. Primary mission will be to carry the third stage of the Saturn V rocket and moon exploration units too large for standard planes. Above the Guppy is a World War II B-25 bomber. (NEA)

Mrs. Barry Ellis

Smiley-Ellis Vows Solemnized At Houstonia Community Church

Before an altar banked with arrangements of pink gladioli and white pompon chrysanthemums flanked with standing candelabras with white satin bows, Miss Marilyn Smiley, Houstonia, exchanged vows with Mr. Barry Ellis, Hughesville, at Houstonia Community Church. The Reverend Robert Kessler performed the double ring ceremony at half past two o'clock Sunday afternoon, Aug. 22.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Smiley, Houstonia. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Ellis, Hughesville.

Organist, Miss Mary Killion, Hughesville, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied the soloist, Miss Marlise Steiner, Appleton City, as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "O Promise Me."

Candlelighters were Mr. and Mrs. John Smiley, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of silk parchment. The slender bodice was designed with a rounded neckline and elbow length sleeves, with scissor pleats controlling the fullness of the bell shaped skirt. From a flat bow placed high above the back waist, a Watteau train was released, extending to chapel length. Long floral sprays of Alencon lace curved in a crescent shape on the yoke, framing the neck, edging the sleeves and trimming the front skirt. Her headdress was a jeweled crown which held her veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade of pink rosebuds. Her only jewelry was a single cultured pearl flanked with diamond chips, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Susanne Smiley, sister of the bride, Houstonia, served as maid of honor. She wore a dress of pink peau de soie designed with a sleeveless, scooped neck bodice with a slightly gathered skirt. The belt was fashioned with a flat bow, and her headpiece was a veiled flat bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompon chrysanthemums. Bridesmaid was Mrs. John Smiley, and junior bridesmaid was Miss Beverly Smiley, sister of the bride. Their dresses and bouquets were like those of the maid of honor.

Best man was Mr. David Jones, Marshall. Mr. John Smiley was groomsman, and Mr. David Jenkins, cousin of the bridegroom, was master groomsman. Mr. Bill Stephens and Mr. Larry Meredith were ushers.

Mrs. Smiley chose a light blue cotton brocade dress with white accessories. Mrs. Ellis wore a moss green two piece silk shantung dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white fujii chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement for 175 guests. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses and bells and highlighted with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The cake was encircled with pink roses. Serving at the table were Mrs. Walter Fricke, Houstonia, and Miss Gayle Nichols, Latour. Mrs. Bob Campbell, Jefferson City, registered guests and Miss Kay Wilson, Springfield, attended gifts.

For traveling costume, the bride chose a white dress with a blue embroidered bodice and blue accessories. Her corsage was a double Cymbidium orchid. After a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home in Warrensburg. The newlyweds are students at Central Missouri State College, Mr. Ellis serving as a graduate assistant in the social science division.

A miscellaneous shower was given for the bride by Mrs. Walter Fricke and Marcia, Mrs. Clyde Killion and Mary, and Mrs. James Blackburn at Houstonia Community Churuch Aug.

A luncheon was given for the couple at Flat Creek Inn by Misses Mary Helen and Frances Meyer, Miss Ruth McCune, and Mrs. Henry Kronsbein Aug. 8.

A surprise tea was given the couple at Warrensburg by Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Melvin Long Aug. 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed McQuiddy and Mr. and Mrs. David Jones honored the couple at a dinner party Aug. 14.

Mrs. John Bowman Watson

Miss Muriel Gray Corson Marries Mr. John Bowman Watson Sept. 3

In the presence of relatives and close friends, Miss Muriel Gay Corson became the bride of Mr. John Bowman Watson on Sept. 3, at Epworth Methodist Church. The Rev Charles Clark read the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Corson, 814 Wilkerson, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Watson, Houston, Mo.

Organist, Mr. Bill Long, played traditional wedding selections.

White daisies, with touches of blue and candelabra, holding lighted tapers, graced the altar.

Mr. Virgil Corson, father of the bride, escorted her to the altar and presented her for marriage. She wore a white lace suit and a briefly veiled lace pillbox. She carried a bouquet of daisies.

Mrs. Orin Anderson was matron of honor. Her royal blue suit of matelasse was complimented with matching shoes. She carried a smaller bouquet of white daisies, streamered with blue ribbon.

Best man was Mr. John C. Russell, Mission Kan., fraternity brother of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Holiday Inn. Assisting in serving were: Mrs. Jerry Richter, Salisbury, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Arvie Baie, Columbia; Miss Marilyn Henley, Kansas City, Miss Tressia Knapp, all sorority sisters of the bride; and Miss Martha Corson, sister of the bride.

Arrangements of white daisies and pink roses were used as decorations. Individually white iced cakes were decorated with pink rosebuds. Pink punch and pink champagne were served.

Mrs. Corson selected a two piece silk dress with turquoise shoes and accessories. An eggshell suit, pink shoes and accessories were worn by the mother of the bridegroom. Mrs. Corson, Mrs. Watson and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. L. C. Corson, were presented with gladioli corsages to harmonize with their costumes.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Arvie Baie, Columbia; Miss Marilyn Henley, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Richter, Salisbury; Cmdr. William Corson, United States Navy, Patuxent River, Md.; Mr. Jim House, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Russ Thomas, Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Everett French, Bob and Everett, Joplin; Mr. and Mrs. Leaton French, of Raytown.

The couple left after the reception on a trip to Florida. They will be at home at Route 2, Box 63-L, Kassuth Avenue, Milton, Fla. The bridegroom is an ensign in the United States Navy and is stationed at Whiting Field, Milton, Fla.

Shower Honors Nila Von Holten

Miss Nila Von Holten was honored at a pre-nuptial kitchen shower Aug. 24 at Christ Lutheran Church basement, Stover, by Mrs. John Hunt and Anna Cordes.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mrs. Jose Von Holten, Stover, became the bride of Albert Hollcroft, Santa Maria, Calif., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hollcroft, 2714 North Grand, Sept. 3, at Denver, Colo.

Game awards were won by Ruth Heisterberg and Lorraine Schlesselman.

Gifts were placed on a table decorated with pink garden flowers. Individually white iced cakes, decorated with pink flowers, were served with pink punch.

Guests were: Miss Nila Von Holten, Mrs. Josie Von Holten, Mrs. Leon Von Holten, Miss Ruth Heisterberg, Miss Lou Ella Schlesselman, Mrs. Ron Beckman, Mrs. Eugene Harms and daughter, Rhonda, Mrs. William Grother, Mrs. Frank Pahlow, Mrs. William Boehm, Mrs. William Boehm, Jr., and Mrs. Eldon Schlesselman.

Danley-Schroeder Vows Pledged

Mrs. James Schroeder

Miss Althea Danley became the bride of Mr. James Edwards Schroeder the afternoon of Saturday, Aug. 21, at Southern Baptist Church, Orange, Calif.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Danley, Orange, former Sedalians, and is the granddaughter of Mrs. Fern Danley, 1407 East Sixth. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Schroeder, Orange.

The Rev. W. A. Crow read double ring vows.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of ivory peau de soie and lace. Encircling the skirt was a band of lace and seed pearls. The detachable train was scattered with appliques of lace and pearls. Mrs. Danley created the gown for her daughter. To complete the bridal ensemble, Miss Danley wore an illusion veil, held in place by three ivory satin roses. She carried a bouquet of butterfly orchids, nestled in camilla leaves.

Miss Gloria Danley attended her sister as maid of honor. She was gowned in an olive green sheath of chiffon over taffeta and carried pale yellow spider chrysanthemums and feather fern.

Bridesmaids were Miss Helen Danley, sister of the bride; Miss Carol Schroeder, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Darlene Bosch and Miss Barbara Walker, the latter a cousin of the bridegroom. Their gowns were of apple green chiffon over taffeta. They also carried bouquets like that of the honor attendant.

Best man was Mr. John W. Schroeder, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. Steve Burbridge, Mr. Jeff Burnett and Mr. Dick Fisher.

Candles were lighted by Miss Peggy Walker, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. Wayne Danley, brother of the bride.

The bride's parents were hosts at a reception at their home after the ceremony.

The couple was graduated from Orange High School. The bride attended Fullerton Junior College, and the bridegroom was graduated from Redlands University. He will study for his master's degree at San Diego State College this fall. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity and Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary geology fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder will reside in La Mesa.

SHOP TALK from Chapman's

Happiness may be a warm puppy to some people but to us it is . . . the customer who comes back, says she has looked all over town and still LOVES the Sycamore coat, or her Country Set outfit.

Happiness is . . . being complimented on our store windows, not only from women but men too. . . . (yes, Mr. Rogers, there was too much in the south window.)

Happiness is receiving a special order and having it fit to perfection.

Happiness is . . . receiving letters from satisfied customers from one end of the country to the other . . . and some from foreign places. The Whitemanites sure get to some far off places.

Happiness is . . . a hundred and one things about the retail business that makes you want to dash down every morning and open the doors, the defeats and the victories combined, all make it the most fascinating business in the world!

And if you want to share in this happiness, we invite you to join us, it is yours to be had at CHAPMAN'S.

While here we will show you the beautiful outfits by Susan Thomas, sparked with leather trim; the understated knits by Kimberly; the yummy soft heather tones in sweater and skirt outfits by Bernhard Altmann, even the color names are unusual, how about "Country Life," "Brick Mortar," "Chivas" and "Pheasant." Makes you want to see what colors they could be. Do come in to

Mrs. Gary L. Curtis

Brim-Curtis Wedding Held On Aug. 21st

The chancel of the East Broadway Christian Church was the scene of the marriage ceremony uniting Miss Janice Sue Brim and Mr. Gary Lloyd Curtis at half past six o'clock Saturday evening, Aug. 21. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Cleo Gray, pastor.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Brim, LaMonte. Mrs. Clay Curtis, LaMonte, and the late Mr. Curtis are the bridegroom's parents.

Seven branch candelabra, holding lighted white cathedral tapers, flanked an altar bouquet of white gladioli, pink asters and greenery.

Miss Barbara Gerkin, LaMonte, played traditional wedding music at the organ. She accompanied Miss Bonnie Bishop, LaMonte, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Always."

At the altar, Miss Brim was presented for marriage by her father. The bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza and lace over taffeta. The fitted lace bodice featured a scalloped neckline and traditional tapering long sleeves. A pillbox crown, encircled with daisies, held her shoulder length silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink rosebuds and Stephanotis.

Miss Bonnie Bishop also served as maid of honor. She and Miss Krystal Brim, LaMonte, sister of the bride, who was bridesmaid, wore street length dresses of pink chiffon, styled with scoop necklines and bouffant skirts. Their face veils were held by pink fabric roses and they carried cascade bouquets of pink asters and greenery.

Best man was Mr. Robert Burke, Springfield, cousin of the bridegroom. Mr. Roger Rumpf, LaMonte, was groomsman.

Cousins of the bridegroom, Mr. Bobby Joe Burke and Mr. Larry Burke, both of LaMonte, were ushers.

A white basket filled with pink rose petals was carried by Miss Shandra Siron, daughter of Mrs. Willy Reed, Sedalia, and of Mr. Kenneth Siron, Sedalia.

Wearing a pink nylon dress and a band of pink roses in her hair, Miss Siron scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

Wedding bands were carried to the altar by Master Robert Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Curtis, LaMonte.

A pink linen costume, accessorized with pink, was worn by the mother of the bride. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a dress of lavender eyelet, with white accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

After the ceremony, 110 wedding guests were received by the newlyweds and wedding party in the church basement. Lace, underlaid with pink, covered the bride's table. Tall tapers bracketed the three-tiered wedding cake, which was decorated with pink roses and wedding bells, and highlighted on the bridal tier with a minature bride and bridegroom. Greenery ringed the base of the cake.

Servers were: Mrs. Cleo Gray and Mrs. Harry Miller, Sedalia, and Miss Becky Forbes, Miss Pauilne Shernaman and Miss Karen Miller, all of LaMonte.

Guests were assisted in registering by Mrs. Tom Files, Independence.

For a trip to Washington, D. C., with her husband, the bride changed to a traveling ensemble of pink silk shantung, accessorized with pink. The couple is at home at LaMonte.

The bride attended Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, this summer. The bridegroom, a physical education major, is to be graduated from CMS in May.

Mrs. Daniel Joseph Sublett

Miss Janice Shoemaker is Bride Of Mr. Daniel Joseph Sublett

The marriage of Miss Janice Shoemaker and Mr. Daniel Joseph Sublett took place at SS Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Cole Camp, at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, Aug. 28.

Exchange of vows was heard by the Rev. A. J. Brunswick, pastor, in a double ring ceremony. The service took place in an altar setting of white gladioli and asters in baskets.

Mrs. L. Chemlier, Cole Camp, played wedding selections preceding the ceremony, and accompanied Mr. William Smart, who sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

Servers were Mr. James Johnson and Mr. John Henry Johnson.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gowned in floor length white lace over bouffant net and taffeta. The neckline extended to a standup collar and the sleeves were tapered to points over the hands. She also wore a fingertip veil of white tulle and carried a cascade of white gladioli and one lilac orchid.

Miss Lynn Sue Schnakenberg, Mora, was maid of honor. Her street length sheath dress was of lilac brocade with a train descending from the back.

Wearing gowns like that of the honor attendant, Mrs. Donald Meisner and Miss Lois Schnakenberg were bridesmaids. The three carried cascades of lilac asters.

Mr. Ronald Honeycutt, Cole Camp, best man, and Mr. Johnny Webb and Mr. Jack Williams, groomsmen, stood at the altar with the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. Joe Brockman and Mr. Miles Parks.

The bride's mother selected a light blue lace over blue satin suit, to wear for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the bridegroom wore a brown and beige knit suit. Their corsages were of white orchids.

A reception was held in Cole Camp Legion Building after the ceremony. The three tiered wedding cake was served with punch by Mrs. E. J. Kerksiek and Miss Mary Grabau.

Gifts were attended by Misses Mary Schnakenberg and Linda Schumacker. Presiding at the guest book was Miss Judy Brown.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Cole Camp High School, as is the bridegroom. The bridegroom is serving in the United States Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Grillo, Milford, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce Elizabeth, to Mr. Gerald L. Horst, son of Mrs. Eunice Horst and the late Mr. Wilbert T. Horst. Miss Grillo is a 1962 graduate of Milford High School. She is employed at Commander Military Sea Transportation Service headquarters in Washington, D. C., as a secretary. Mr. Horst, a 1957 graduate of Sacred Heart High School, is in the United States Navy, stationed at Commander Military Sea Transportation Service, Washington, D. C. An October wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Haynes, Stover, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Faye, to Mr. William W. Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ab Ball, Sedalia. An October wedding is being planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Logan, 1320 South Quincy, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna, to Mr. Everett A. Kochner, son of Mrs. Tony Kochner, 607 West Third, and of the late Mr. Koechner, formerly of Tipton. Both are 1964 graduates of Sacred Heart High School. Mr. Koechner is attending Draughon's College, Kansas City. A November wedding is planned.

Green Named Vice President KC Chamber of Commerce

Richard C. Green, Chairman of the Board and President, of the Missouri Public Service Co., has been named First Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce of greater Kansas City. It was announced today by John Latshaw, President of the Chamber.

In his new office Green succeeds James F. Haake, who was promoted and transferred recently to Dallas, Tex., by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

"Nothing could please me more than announcing that Dick Green has agreed to accept this very important responsibility," Latshaw said. "His record of business and civic achievement in the past qualifies him admirably. The entire Board of Directors shares my elation in this and believes, as I do, that Dick Green typifies the outstanding young leadership which promises so much for Kansas City's future."

Green, who will be 40 in December, is no newcomer to Chamber of Commerce activities. He completed a term in the Board of Directors of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce in 1962 and, during that tenure, he served as the Chamber Vice-President in charge of the Industrial Development Department.

He currently is serving as Vice-President and Director of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce.

His civic activities over the years have earned him numerous honors, including the Missouri State Jaycees "Outstanding Boss Award" in 1954 and the Kansas City Jaycees "Distinguished Service Award" in 1958. His current civic activities also include being a Director of the Kansas City Industrial Foundation, a Director and Secretary of the Starlight Theatre Association, a Trustee of the University of Missouri at Kansas City, a Director of the Kansas City Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, a Director of the American Red Cross and a Member of the Board of Governors of the American Royal.

On the business front and in addition to his duties as Chairman of the Board and President of Missouri Public Service Co., he is a Director of Businessmen's Assurance Co., a Director of the City National Bank and Trust Co., President and Director of the West Missouri Investment Co., President and Director of Sunrise Seed and Implement Co., Director and partner of B & G Hosiery Co., and a Member of the Board of Trustees of Southwest Atomic Energy Association.

Green is a native Kansas Citian, was educated in the Kansas City Public Schools and is a graduate of the University of Missouri. He is married and has three daughters and two sons, is a member of the Country Club Christian Church and resides at 1235 West 65th, Kansas City.

Mrs. Richards At St. Louis Club Meeting

Mrs. Christina Richards, 504 West Pettis, was one of the 12 delegates from Missouri to the 20th Biennial Convention of the Central Association of Colored Women's Clubs, held at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in St. Louis, Mo., July 31-Aug. 5.

Mrs. Richards is a member of the Josephine Silone Yates Arts and Charity Club of Sedalia which is affiliated with the Missouri State Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc., Regional ACWC and National ACWC, Inc. The Regional, to which Mrs. Richards was elected recording secretary from 1963-65, comprises 12 states, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Wisconsin and West Virginia.

The Missouri State ACWC was host to the convention and a full program had been planned with outstanding speakers on a wide variety of subjects on things of current interest which included homes, youth, education, civil rights, national and international affairs, war on poverty and goals to work toward.

Sunday's program included worship, an address by the national president NACWC, Mrs. Mamie Reese, Albany, Ga., on "Without Vision the People Perish." A reception was held at 6 p.m. in the St. Louis Association Club House.

The Federated Girls held their meeting Saturday and Sunday in the Daniel Boone Room, and participated in a fashion show of American and African styles.

Monday the delegates, following the morning session, were taken on a tour of the city, lunch at Forest Park and then the opera, "High Button Shoes."

The banquet was held Tuesday night at the Statler Ball Room, and the Press Breakfast was held Wednesday morning in the Missouri Room. Parliamentary drills were a highlight of the convention.

Mrs. Fannye Benford, Indiana, vice-president, presided in the absence of the Central president, Mrs. Bernice Lindsay, who was in a serious automobile accident two days before the convention opened.

Election of officers was held at the conclusion of the convention with Mrs. Benford elected president, 1965-67.

The 21st Biennial of the Central Association will be held in 1967 in Ohio.

Oral Spanish Course Given at S-C by CMS

Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of Sedalia Public Schools, has announced that in addition to eight courses previously announced by Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, a two-hour credit course in oral Spanish is being offered at the Smith-Cotton High School.

Enrollment will be at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 20 at the school. The 12-week course, will be comprised of one three hour session one night of each week.

St. Paul's Circles In August Meetings

Hostesses in August to St. Paul's Circles were: Mrs. Clarence Monsees, Mrs. Sena Schutt, Mrs. Emma Brockschmidt and Mrs. Mark Bergmann.

The Elizabeth Circle met at the park for a sack lunch picnic. "The Church — God's Committed People" from Advance, was the topic of the month.

Plans were made by the Eunice Circle to serve a wedding reception at the church for a couple being married there.

Two shut-ins were remembered with birthday gifts and visits and the altar committee reported furnishing 100 cards to put with flowers the altar when they are taken to shut-ins.

A prayer letter from Missionary Ronald Astolas, Tokyo, Japan, was read at the meetings.

The meetings closed with prayer.

Canada's Saskatchewan province first was explored in 1691.

Otterville 1933 Class Reunites For First Time

The senior class of 1933 of Otterville High School held its first reunion Aug. 15 in the school lunchroom and at Flat Creek Inn.

Coffee and doughnuts were served at the school in the morning by Mrs. Antone Beck, Mrs. Ralph Williams and Mrs. Raymond Kuykendall.

Group pictures were taken and photographs of members and their families were viewed. Oscar Rehmer, school custodian, conducted a tour of the new high school building.

Dinner was served at Flat Creek Inn.

Guest speakers in the afternoon were two of the 1933 teachers, Mrs. Frances (Knowlin) Gunn, Otterville, and Perry Bidstrup, Independence, high school principal.

Paul Strickfaden, Melvin, Ia., was master of ceremonies.

Following members answered roll call by giving a resume of their lives during the 32 years since graduation: Verda (Stephen) Dalman, Kansas City; Ora (Hensen) McCormick, Independence; Edith (Wear) Houchen, Florence; R. V. Williams, Syracuse; Paul Strickfaden, Melvin, Iowa; Loren Bane, Ferguson; Ada Potter, Sedalia; Alonzo Bishop, Anaheim, Calif.; Edna (Schupp) McGuire, Creston, Ia.; Maxine (Wear) Fry, Lucille (Homan) Williams, Lena (Klein) Kuykendall, Ruth (Page) Beck; Frank Diefendorf, Jr., all of Otterville.

Letters were read from these members: Alice (Henderson) Evans, Lancaster, Calif.; Virgina (Rothgeb) Frazier, Topeka, Kan.; Helen (Glenn) Allen, Cushing, Okla.; Vernon (Wharton) Jennings, Independence; Herbert Howard, San Leandro, Calif.; Walter Stephens, Gloster, Miss. A letter was also read from Miss Ruth McGeehan, of Kansas City, a former teacher.

Plans were discussed for a reunion in 1968.

Other dinner guests included husband and wives of members present, Mrs. Perry Bidstrup, Independence; Alonzo Bishop, III, Anaheim, Calif.; John Youngcamp, Sedalia.

S-C PTA Plans Agenda For Year

Mrs. Harley Sanford, president of Smith-Cotton High School PTA, presided over S-C's first PTA executive meeting of the school year, at the high school, in which detailed plans were made for the coming months.

The executive committee selected Mrs. Sanford as a delegate to the state PTA convention to be held at Jefferson City on Oct. 12, 13, and 14, and she was given the power to select an alternate if she should be unable to attend. Mrs. Ann Haller was selected as the voting delegate to the District PTA Council at Marshall, Mo., on Sept. 28. The committee also selected the following delegates to the Sedalia PTA Council: Mrs. Harley Sanford, Mrs. Ann Haller, Mrs. Charles Goshen, and Mrs. William Hiatt. Their respective alternates are Mrs. Kenneth Steele, Mrs. Jo Ann Lambirth, Mrs. Arthur McCune, and Mrs. Jessie Baker. The Sedalia PTA Council meetings are held the first Wednesday of each month at one p. m. at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Sanford announced that the first Smith-Cotton PTA meeting would be Thursday, Sept. 30 at 7:30 p. m. in the Smith-Cotton auditorium and that it would consist of a brief talk by Dr. Bruce Riddle, principal of S-C, as well as a get-acquainted night with the teachers. Mrs. Kenneth Steele, First Vice President, stated that the other three meetings during the school year would be held on December 9, Feb. 10, and April 14. She further said that the PTA theme for the year is "Know Your School."

The S-C PTA membership drive will take place from Sept. 30 to October 14, and Mrs. O. J. Durnell, membership chairman, expressed a desire to exceed last year's membership of 817.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Jessie Baker, and the coming year's budget was reviewed by Mrs. Claude Lambirth. The committee also reviewed the by-laws and the constitution, set dates for future executive meetings, and set a tentative date for the S - C Variety Show to be held in the spring. A motion was also passed calling for the mailing of letters to each S-C parent prior to a meeting in order to stimulate more interest and to encourage more people to attend.

Mesdames Funk And Ferriter Given a Picnic

Mrs. Mary Funk, Dresden, was given a surprise birthday picnic Aug. 29 at Liberty Park by her nieces and nephews. Sharing honors was Mrs. Goldean Ferriter, 601 West Seventh.

Mrs. John Jourdan, Kansas City, a grand niece of Mrs. Funk, baked and decorated a cake for each honored guest. Cake was served with homemade ice cream.

Attending were: Mrs. Thomas Hughes, Carrollton; Mrs. J. T. Hughes, Mrs. Melvin Ballinger, Marshall; Mr. and Mrs. Art Williams, Mr. and Mrs. David Dotson and Kevin, Don Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John Jourdon, Stephen, Scott and Terry, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dotson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cummins, Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Anderson, Mission, Kansas;

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford CumMINS, Hermann; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Cummins, Niangua; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sullivan and Nancy, Lawrence, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cummins, Jr., Michelle, Mike, Mark, Mitchell and Matthew, Independence; Mrs. Romig, Dresden; Mr. and Mrs. Walter McFarland and Tammy, Lee's Summit.

Endless Pursuit of Freedom

There is no holiday in Viet Nam today.

As we take our ease and spend Labor Day in any number of different ways of our own choosing, we might pause to reflect on this and on the fuller meaning of the name we give this late-summer recess from our daily work.

It was a labor of minds that conceived the ideals on which this nation was predicated, and a labor of bodies — thousands of which perished in the struggle—that brought it into being.

It was a labor of the spirit and of the body that nourished the young nation, that made it grow great and that extended it over forest, plain, desert and mountain, 2,500 miles between the two seas.

It is labor of the highest dedication that has preserved it for nearly two centuries against all enemies, against all dangers foreign and domestic.

There has never been a holiday from this labor. There never will be.

To some it is galling to be told that our involvement in Viet Nam is a labor in defense of our freedom. Our country is in no obvious peril from the Communists there and freedom is a meaningless thing to the peasant who knows only that his family is being slaughtered, his home and village leveled, his crops destroyed.

The blood of innocents, not to speak of that of the soldiers fighting on both sides, could seem too ghastly a price to pay for this ambiguous idea called "freedom."

But this nation is dedicated to the defense of that idea, and the harsh lessons of two World Wars have taught us that it is not something that can exist in serene isolation within our borders. It can only be secured by involvement in the world at large.

We can draw no clear line between strictly national interest and defense of an area that embraces all peoples, between that which benefits the United States alone and that which serves the world community.

We are engaged in a war with a foe who also takes strength from his own national pride and his own ideas of a universal order. But we believe they are ideas which could plunge the world into a new Dark Age of oppression of the mind and soul.

That is why the struggle is so unavoidable, so grinding, so stupendous in its implications.

And that is why there is no holiday in Viet Nam today.

Bond in Common: Search for Peace

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — I dropped around to a reception at the Bulgarian legation to say goodby to the Bulgarian minister, Lyubomir Popov, a bouncy, friendly, little man who was going home to sit at the American desk of his government's foreign office.

Some days later I attended an interesting dinner at Georgetown University, the famed Jesuit college which has helped shape American education.

The communist legation of Bulgaria and the Catholic Institution of Learning at Georgetown would seem about as far apart as you could get, yet there is one interesting tie between them.

I attended the Bulgarian reception because after World War I, I was in charge of one hundred Bulgarian prisoners rebuilding bombed-out villages in the mountains of Serbia. I got to know Bulgarians at that time, like them, learned to speak their language.

Bulgaria was then under a down-at-the-heel monarchy which cost them a lot of unnecessary money and which they chucked in favor of communism. I hold no brief for either. But I do hold a brief for the right of any country to decide on its own system of government as long as they work for peace.

The Bond of Peace

At the Bulgarian reception was Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, a devout Catholic and a dedicated public servant, who had come to say goodby to the Bulgarian minister because Mike also believes in bridges to peace.

The latter goal is the big thing which Catholic Georgetown University and the communist legation of Bulgaria have in common.

The dinner at Georgetown was to say goodby to 27 Russian teachers who had been studying there all summer. They were English language teachers, educated in Russian universities and selected from all over the farflung Soviet Union, from the Ghirgiz in what was once called Turkestan, to Georgia and the Ukraine.

They spoke English with broad accents when they arrived, but thanks to the teachers of Georgetown, they spoke fluently as they left. But more than learning English and how to teach it, they had learned that Americans are not all the way some of our foreign critics say we are, but friendly people who want to get along with the rest of the world and make it a better place to live in.

The dinner was quite simple, but most inspiring. At the end, the Russian teachers sang some of their favorite songs, and the Catholic professors sang Auld Lang Syne, and there were some touching little speeches in which the departing Russians paid tribute to their teachers and gave each a little present.

I am quite sure the Catholics of America have always wanted peace, but it seems to me they have worked at it a little harder since the great encyclical "Pacem in Terris" by Pope John. At any rate, the Catholic fathers at Georgetown were working at it with great sincerity and dignity, and it seemed to be paying dividends.

Bridges To Poland

Another Catholic is being sent by a Protestant president to Poland this month, also to work at friendship and peace. John Gronouski, a former teacher at Wayne University in Detroit and the University of Wisconsin, is leaving the cabinet to become ambassador to Poland, which like Bulgaria is communist, but wants friendly relations with the United States.

I have been criticized by some people ever since I first advocated people-to-people friendship in 1947, and I suppose President Johnson will be criticized also for his reasons for sending Gronouski to Poland.

The Liberty Lobby, which distributed several million copies of a vicious smear sheet against him last fall, has been propagandizing against his Consular Treaty with Russia to a point where Senate leaders have side-tracked the treaty.

And the Young Americans for Freedom, the right wing youth movement, raised so much furor over Firestone Rubber signing a contract with Rumania to build a synthetic rubber factory in that country that Firestone finally pulled out of the contract.

Some of these right wing leaders, though not saying much about it, are happy to make money in East-West exchange. Take the Diners Club, which has just embraced as director Sen. George Murphy, the California Republican ex-actor who saw so many communists under beds last fall.

The president of the Diners Club is Alfred Bloomingdale, who is high up in technicolor, the organization run by Patrick Frawley, the right wing rabble rouser on the West Coast.

However, their Diners Club now does business in communist Yugoslavia and has announced the beginning of operations in communist Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria next month.

However, it remains a fact that the People-To-People Policy or the Bridges-To-The-East Policy or whatever you want to call it, is definitely working. The small communist countries of Europe do want peace, they want trade, and they want to be let alone. They are delighted to have the military protection of the Red Army because it saves them a lot of defense money, just as the American Army saves our NATO allies a lot of defense dollars.

But they resent internal interference from Russia or anyone else. With us they do want trade and friendship — as long as we too, keep hands off their internal problems.

So Ambassador John Gronouski, the quiet ex-teacher and ex-postmaster general, may be able to win a lot of friendship in Poland.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. H. C. Davis of Sedalia was elected chairman of the ladies auxiliary to the Pettis County Willkie-For-President club. Mrs. Lee Montgomery was named vice-chairman, Mrs. L. P. Andrews, Sr., second vice-chairman; and Miss Virginia Wilkerson, secretary.

Paul G. Tredway, St. Louis, former Sedalian, will be an instructor of journalism at Webster College, Webster Groves, Mo., the coming school year. He is a member of the news staff of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Fred Ludemann, Jr., entertained a company of friends informally at dinner at the Ludemann summer home, "Waldheim." Included in the party were: Miss Elizabeth Montgomery, who has just returned from New York City; Miss Anna Washington Wooldridge, of East Orange, N. J. who has been making an extended visit here with relatives; Miss Virginia Flower, Messrs. Robert Shirk, of Kansas City, Frank Hayes and Mr. Ludemann.

— 1925 —

Representatives of the Grinnell Heating Co., of Kansas City, were in Sedalia this week to make certain changes in the ventilating system of the Pettis County circuit court room. The blades on the ventilating fan will be changed so that they may be turned on full speed without being noisy. In addition skylights that may be opened will be placed in the ceiling.

More to a Party Than a Few Drinks

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A scientific investigator at UCLA has found that a few drinks (the key word is few, he says) increases the flow of ideas and, therefore, it may be assumed, helps to make guests at a party more scintillating.

But lest a hostess decide from that bit of scientific data that all she needs to have a successful party is to provide her guests with a few drinks or that she can't have a good party without them, it should be remembered that other considerations are even more important.

Take the guest list, for instance. If a hostess hopes that her guests will sparkle, she had better choose them carefully for their intelligence, wit and sociability. (The UCLA scientist was quick to point out: "This does not mean that a few drinks make people think more intelligently.")

And if she is wise she will realize that nothing is duller that a guest list made up of "the crowd," with no new names and faces added. (Even a few drinks won't add any sparkle to the conversation of a small group which has been together so often that not one member holds any surprises for the others.)

Nor will a hostess who is interested in giving a good party ever plan one in order to pay back everyone she "owes." Such a gathering is obviously a settling of obligations instead of a party and none of the guests feels flattered enough to have been asked to exert themselves to be entertaining.

The hostess who wants her men guests to be at their best never forgets the importance of including a few new and attractive feminine faces. (No drink ever mixed can do as much to stimulate masculine charm and wit as a fresh, new, pretty face.)

So while a few drinks may liven up a party even by scientific measurements, the most important ingredient of a successful party is still the guest list. Two drinks may make a bore a little less boring — but not enough.

Garage Sale

Garage sales are so popular,
A dozen every day,
Where women sell all kinds of things
They used to throw away—
They clean out all the closets,
Sell dresses, blouses, skirts,
Coats and suits and stretch pants,
And hubby's still good shirts—
The whatnot in the corner,
The table and the chair,
When they get garage sale minded
They leave the house most bare,
A quarter for that lovely dress
Someone has brought to sell,
They grab the bargain quickly
Because it fits so well—
And Mary's beads are orchid
That match another dress,
And Sara is so very pleased
With Martha's cookie press,
Now Bette buys the bracelet
That had belonged to Sue,
And Mildred bought the pillow
Of rose and royal blue;
The afternoon went by real fast,
And what a lot of fun,
For all the cars were loaded down
When the whole thing was done,
They bought each other's cast off things
The owner thought was trash,
Delighted with their bargains
They bought for little cash,
After the sale was over
And Erma looked about
She had to carry inside
The things she'd carried out,
The things nobody wanted,
But as she looked them o'er
She hadn't really thought about
How nice they were before,
For instance, now, the desk lamp,
It had cost her quite a bit,
But after she had moved her desk
She had no use for it,
And now she moved that desk again,
'Twas just right for it there,
And that dear little teapot,
She placed it now with care,
The dish she had no need for
Now gave her lots of pleasure
And as she looked things over
Most items were a treasure,
She gaily took them out there
Without a single thought
But she brought them back so happy
That these things no one bought.

—Hazel N. Lang.

Letter To The Editor

MORRAN D. HARRIS (State Representative St. Clair County, Osceola, Mo.) — I would like to suggest the following compromise solution of the Legislative Re-apportionment impasse:

• That we revise the law we just passed setting up district boundaries to : (1) bring all districts within 10 per cent of the average; (2) eliminate the division of counties, other than those which must be divided because of size, insofar as possible; and (3) correct other apparent irregularities. Seventeen small rural counties were divided in the law and four rural districts are more than 10 per cent above or below average. Twelve of these counties can be left undivided and the four rural districts can be brought within 10 per cent of average without much trouble and without any substantial change in the law. All of the seven districts in Jackson County which deviate more than 10 per cent from the average touch districts which deviate substantially in the opposte direction; hence adjustments should be easy there.

• That the law as thus revised be accepted as a temporary re-apportionment of the Missouri House until after the 1970 census.

• That a new constitutional amendment be submitted to the voters at the 1966 election which would: (1) establish the permanent size of the House; (2) set up standards of reopportionment, such as "districts shall be made up of contiguous territory, as compact and nearly equal in population as may be," and "no district shall deviate more than 10 per cent from the average in population;" (3) provide for the reapportionment of the Senate and House by a bi-partisan commission after the 1970 census and every 10 years thereafter; and (4) provide for the election by the people in 1970 and each 10 years thereafter of a bi-partisan commission of one Democrat and one Republican from each Congressional district to reapportion both Senate and House districts. This would eliminate the objection voiced by many to letting the Governor appoint the commission and thus holding a club over the heads of the members of the General Assembly. This would also make certain that all areas of the State would be represented on the commission. Two nominees for each position could be chosen by the respective party Congressional committees in much the same manner in which the respective party State committees now select twice the required number for the Senatorial redistricting commission.

Warren G. Harding was the first U.S. president to invite the vice president to hold a seat in the presidential cabinet.

FINDING THE WAY

One Night of Glory

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When I was a boy, August or early September was the time of the night-blooming cereus. It was an enormous cactus bristling with flat, rubbery leaves and housed in a lard can. By no possible standard could the plant be regarded as beautiful.

At our home it spent the winter in an entrance hall as a kind of foil to one of those large, medieval coat racks — the kind with a mirror framed with various metal hooks. At its side the night-blooming cereus looked all right.

In the spring it lived in the back yard under the cherry tree. From time to time mother would report on the buds. They were insignificant little nodules on the large, flat leaves but they indicated the promise of a flower.

As the weeks passed, the buds became long spikes with bulbous ends which rapidly swelled in size. Finally, the night arrived when my mother had decided that the night-blooming cereus was going to bloom.

Dutifully we would load it on our coaster wagon, pull it out front, run an extension cord out with a light on it, and we were ready. For this flower would bloom at night and only for one night.

At dark the long petals began to open until by 11 o'clock the large white flower, sometimes 10 inches in diameter, was at full beauty. It revealed stamens and pistel which mother thought reminded her of a star over the manger.

In one year there were 50 of these flowers blooming on the plant on the same night. Relatives, neighbors and strangers came to see the remarkable sight. The night-blooming cereus became a kind of focal point of an August evening. It always seemed disrespectful to this plant, which was having its brief hour of glory, that we would have to turn out the light and go to bed.

By the next morning all the loveliness was gone and there would be the usual headshaking at the brevity of such splendor.

In these days of ranch houses and apartments there would be no room at all for a night-blooming cereus. It is as antique as an attic. The fact that it was such an event said something about the world in which I lived as a boy.

Opening lead—♠ Q.

The hands in Edgar Kaplan's fine book, "Winning Contract Bridge Complete," are likely to illustrate several points in bidding and play.

Thus Edgar does not approve at all of South's bid of four hearts. He points out that North's three no-trump bid guarantees stoppers in all suits and that South should let his partner play the hand where he is sure to make at least one overtrick.

West decides on a desperate queen of spades opening and right away South wishes he had passed at three no-trump. Wishes are worthless and he has to play the hand out. He sees no reason not to rise with dummy's king, whereupon East takes his ace and leads a second spade.

Everyone follows and now East can actually defeat the contract. He must start by cashing his ace of clubs and continue by leading a third spade. This will give South a choice of losing plays. If South ruffs high, West will eventually collect a trick with the jack of trumps. If South ruffs with the 10, West will make his jack of trumps right away.

Why must East take his ace of clubs before leading out the third spade? The reason is that if he doesn't take it he won't get it. South has a seven of clubs that he is going to have to lose sometime or other. "Eventually, why not now?" South discards his losing club on East's good spade. East can play a third spade or anything else that strikes his fancy but he is not going to beat the hand because dummy now is also able to ruff spades and there will be no way for West to make his jack.

Democrat Pick-ups

IT WAS IN the depot where a woman sat waiting for a train to St. Louis, and so she reached in her purse, took out her folding fan which she always carries and started fanning.

A woman with two small children was waiting, too, and one of the little girls about 4 years old kept watching her as she fanned. Evidently she had never seen anyone use a fan before and she was fascinated.

Finally she edged her way over to the woman with the fan and stood watching. The woman smiled and fanned the child four or five times.

Feeling the cool air the little girl looked up at her with surprise.

"Oh," she said, "it's an air conditioner." H. L.

New Stamp Issued

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes and Delaware Gov. Charles L. Terry were on hand Friday for the issuance of a stamp promoting traffic safety.

Maryland's commissioner of motor vehicles, John R. Jewell, also was present during the ceremonies.

And where did the trio of dignitaries park their limousines?

Jewell and Terry parked next to a fire hydrant. Tawes, unable to find a curb spot, double-parked next to them.

Two MoPac Dividends

The Board of Directors of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, meeting in Little Rock, Ark., has declared two dividends of $1.25 each per share on the company's Class A stock, payable during the remainder of 1965.

This will bring dividends declared on MoPac Class A stock to a total of $5.00 a share for the year.

A dividend of $1.25 per Class A share will be payable on September 30, to shareholders of record on September 17, and a further $1.25 per share will be payable on December 31, to holders of record on Dec. 17.

4-H Citizenship in Action Grants

September 15 is the deadline for Clubs making application for 4-H citizenship grants. One of the major goals of 4-H is to teach young people ways of thinking, feeling, and acting which will enable them to become more competent citizens of a democratic society.

In keeping with this goal of 4-H, a program has recently been initiated in Missouri to provide opportunities for expanded citizenship activities by 4-H members.

Missouri is one of eight states which have been selected to take part in the 4-H "Citizenship in Action" program which is to be supported by an overall grant of $10,000 from the Reader's Digest Foundation. The program will provide opportunities to expand successful ongoing citizenship programs and services to meet growing community needs, and the interests of 4-H members.

Grants will be made to clubs of older 4-H members, or to junior leadership groups. While older members will take the intitiative and responsibility for citizenship program development, younger members will also be encourged to take part.

The grants will range from $50 to $500 each and will vary in amount according to local needs and program planning.

Possible projects might include: citizenship education in the community, local observances of national citizenship day, activities which encourage voter registration, establishment of conservation areas, community programs for senior citizens, recreational surveys, safety campaigns, programs involving the disadvantaged, and other similar efforts.

Applications for a grant must include a statement of the project, including the needs for such a project, and the objectives and opportuntives for service in the community. It should also include a writeup of the methods to be used in a particular project. This writeup should include a brief resume of any previous work which has been done in areas related to the project which is being submitted.

Applications should spell out the involvement of various community agencies and organizations and all those who will be involved in planning the citizenship project.

In addition to the above details, all applications should include a proposed budget including money now available, local resoures pledged or anticipated, and a listing of short and long term project goals.

Applications blanks and instrutions for applying for the grants are available at the University Extension Center. The deadline for filing applications is September 15, 1965.

Papers To Library

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Manuscripts, private papers and personal library of the late Dr. Frank Luther Mott, dean of the University of Missouri School of Journalism from 1942 to 1956, have been presented to the university library.

The library of about 2,500 volumes, includes 16th century imprints, books on creative writing, poetry and journalism and a special collection of "best seller" books used by Dr. Mott in writing his "The Golden Multitudes: The History of the Best Seller in the United States."

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

By ALLEN GARVIN

Best of the Worst Ron Swoboda is a 20-year-old home-run hitter with the New York Mets, which just possibly may be the worst team ever to play major-league baseball. Ron has a name that manager Casey Stengel can't even pronounce. He is a Babe Herman kind of fielder who loses fly balls in the sun. He calls off other fielders from a ball, then misses it. He walks off the base paths thinking there are three outs instead of two. But then, next time up, he's very likely to make up for all his shortcomings—with a homer! Ron's fans love him. They recently unveiled a sign: "Ron Swoboda Is Really Clark Kent."

Ron Swoboda

A Lady for the Fighting Irish This fall, when the professors in the stadium at South Bend, Ind., break into the traditional "Cheer, Cheer for Old Notre Dame," there will be a clear, sweet female voice among them. For the first time in the university's great history, the faculty this term will include a woman. She is Sister Suzanne, a Benedictine nun who will teach the history of science to junior classmen.

The Unshown Marilyn The brilliant documentary-film maker, David Wolper, has just completed an hour-long masterpiece about the late Marilyn Monroe. Originally scheduled as a television special, the film may never be shown publicly. Those who have seen it have left the screening room virtually in tears because it is so dramatic in its portrayal of the personal tragedy of Marilyn's life. Sponsors apparently are unwilling to pick up the show. The reason: they know their commercials would be an unwelcome intrusion in the emotionally charged program.

Last of the Fairs? As Robert Moses' disaster-dogged New York World's Fair lumbers through its final holiday weekend toward closing day, it has become apparent that Moses' troubles may well discourage any future fair from being held in the U.S. Chicago just dropped all plans for a 1976 fair to mark the 200th anniversary of American independence after experts filed a pessimistic report. Fairs are out, the brain trusters said, because costs are far too high, Americans travel so much that they aren't really edified by fair exhibits, people resent having to pay high admissions and parking fees to see commercial pitches, and finally, girlie shows—usually the chief drawing card—are currently in popular disfavor.

Perry Mason to the Front Lines USO tours aren't getting the headlines they got during World War II, but they still go on, nevertheless. A steady procession of top-flight show-business personalities has been winging into Saigon to perform for GIs up and down the length of South Vietnam—often within sniper range of the Viet Cong. King of the circuit is actor Raymond Burr (tv's Perry Mason), who has been to Vietnam four times. He concentrates on meeting and talking to GIs in their remote outposts rather than just doing a hackneyed song-and-dance act.

Raymond Burr with GIs

Male Vanity Once the men of America were brought up to believe that they should smell like Davy Crockett or Daniel Boone—outdoorsy and rugged. But that's all changing now. Men's cosmetics have become the fastest-growing item in department-store inventories. Sales are up to $400 million a year in male colognes, hair sprays, hair colorings, and facial creams! "And why not?" says one manufacturer. "It's the male peacock that has the beautiful tail and the male lion that has the beautiful mane."

Shoeless Shirley Most books that carry the bylines of movie stars are ghosted. But Shirley MacLaine insists hers will be all honest-to-gosh MacLaine. "I'm starting a second draft," she reports, "typing 60 words a minute, 12 hours a day. I began it last December when I got home from a tour. It's not autobiographical. I try to show there's an inherent freedom in all of us that can be turned to advantage." Title: It's Better with Your Shoes Off. Publication is slated for next summer.

Mr. Economy President Johnson's tendency toward economy goes beyond turning off lights in the White House. The prime example of his saving nature is what he has done with his birthplace. He has taken the lumber from the old frame house where he first saw the light of day—and had it reused in building a cabin on his Texas ranch! Conservation seems to be a family tradition. The President's father sponsored the bill in the Texas legislature that prevented the Alamo from being torn down to make way for a filling station.

President Johnson

Little Smokey, pictured shortly after his rescue from a forest fire, receives first aid for burns.

SMOKEY: The Billion-Dollar Bear

A burned, frightened cub has grown up to become one of America's most valuable assets

By BILL SURFACE

Today Smokey Bear is visited each year by many thousands at his zoo home in Washington, D.C.

WHO, after President Johnson, is the highest-paid "public servant" in Washington? The Vice President? The Chief Justice of the United States? The Secretary of State?

Actually, it's a 15-year-old black bear in the Washington zoo! He's the legendary Smokey Bear, who helps prevent forest fires.

Last year Smokey earned $53,586.19. So far this year, he has been averaging $9,000 a month. If his earnings continue at this rate, he will even surpass the President's $100,000 annual salary before the year is out.

Smokey is so famous that Public Law 359—the Smokey Bear Act—makes it an offense punishable by six months in a federal penitentiary to use his picture commercially without pay. Consequently, since 1953, Smokey has received $323,000 in royalties from 58 products bearing his endorsement. They include everything from ash trays and cigarette snuffers to litter bags and T shirts. Every penny of this income goes to the Cooperative Forest Fire Prevention Fund.

Smokey Bear may be America's most illustrious animal. His mail is so voluminous that he has his own zip-code number, 20252. More than 1,000 cards and letters, many addressed only to "Smokey Bear, U.S.A." or "Smokey, Washington," arrive daily. All correspondence—300,000 pieces a year—is answered.

His fan mail is often quite personal. For example, one youngster's letter, marked "Special Del." (but without the 30 cents special-delivery postage), read: "Smokey Bear. I squash out cigarettes. I put out fire with water and not leave things in the hot sun to burn. My big brothers laugh that you not a real bear. Will you answer me for not burning the wood."

Another youngster's post card read: "The grownups drink beer and smoke in back-yard barbque and might start the woods on fire. Do I call police or will you do it?"

A boy who faced similar problems didn't wait for action by police or Smokey: "They talking to company and do not pay attention to what they doing and might burn up our forest. So I dip all the new cigarettes and matches in water, and . . ."

Perhaps Smokey's most poignant letter came attached to one of the Junior Forest Ranger badges that the Forest Service sends out in kits to children. It read:

"Eric R., Williamsburg, Iowa, report to Smokey. Age is 9. I threw matches on the ground while visiting my cousins house. A fire burn the grass and trees. They called the fire department. They put it out. My dad and mom told me to send everything back. I do not feel worthy of belonging to the Jr. Forest Rangers. Is there anything I can do to earn the badge again after that mistake?"

Eric received a reply, above Smokey's paw-print signature: "If you stop playing with matches and are careful with fire, your badge will be restored after three months, and you will be a Junior Ranger in good standing again."

Smokey Bear began his fire-prevention career in 1950 when a fire spread through New Mexico's Lincoln National Forest, devastating 17,000 acres of woodland. Fire fighters came upon Smokey, then a cub, burned and dazed, clinging to a smoldering tree.

Ray Bell, a game warden in New Mexico, took the cub to a veterinarian, who treated the animal's burned paws. Bell's daughter Judy fed the cub from a baby bottle until he regained normal strength. Soon he grew new, black hair; received a name, Little Smokey; and was flown to the Washington zoo by the U. S. Forest Service.

The public loved Smokey, and soon he became the living counterpart of a symbol that the Advertising Council had created some years before—a friendly bear who wore dungarees and a ranger's hat and always doused campfires.

As Smokey grew in size, so did his value as a fire-prevention symbol. This year, 25,000,000 posters and $10,000,000 worth of advertising will show the lovable Smokey holding a fire-fighter's shovel and cautioning people: "A match is a deadly missile."

Smokey's tips have paid off. Before the project began, 210,000 forest fires burned 30 million acres—an area equal to New York State—every year in the U.S.! Though three times as many persons visit outdoor recreation sites today, the annual average has decreased to 100,000 fires and four million acres. "Smokey has saved us more than $10 billion worth of timber and park land that didn't burn," says Hal Hardy, director of the Forest Fire Preventive Program. ◆

YOU ARE TWICE AS SMART AS YOU THINK!

And these seven simple actions will prove it to you in a single weekend—by doubling your power to learn!

This article is going to shock the life out of you—because it flatly says "bunk" to every idea you have ever had about how "difficult" it is to learn!

This article says that if you could only liberate the exact same talent and intelligence and ability that you have tied up inside you today—then you could:

. . . read anything you wish, twice as fast as you can read today. . .

. . . absorb facts like a sponge, and repeat them almost word for word years later. . .

. . . flash through math, business, financial problems that have you stopped cold today . . .

. . . hold people spellbound with the power of your speech and your written word. . .

. . . out-think others when you have to tower over them in judgment, outshine them completely in imagination.

And do it all — not by struggling through dreary textbooks . . . not by memorizing useless theories — but simply putting your LOCKED-UP LEARNING POWERS to work—today—as easily and logically as this:

LEARNING ACTION NO. 1

Lets you skim through a book in thirty minutes! Dazzle others with your insights into it that very same night!

This action is literally a brand-new way to read the printed page! Yet it requires nothing more than an ordinary pencil!

Once you are shown it, you will never read a book from cover to cover again! Instead, you will flash right through it — automatically skipping the boring details — automatically scooping up the main ideas as fast as your eyes can travel down the page!

You'll absorb the key ideas of most books in thirty minutes! Burn a magazine article into your memory in five minutes! Master the heart of a business report in three minutes!

And you'll file these facts away in your mind in such perfect order — automatically — that you can pull them right out again at an instant's notice! So you can back up every point you make in conversation with dozens of overwhelming facts . . . fill every one of your statements with authority and conviction . . . win other people to your views so completely that no one else could ever lure them away!

And this is just the beginning!

LEARNING ACTION NO. 2

Gives you a "Tape-Recorder Memory" for the spoken word! Lets you hear hidden secrets in people's conversation that they don't even know they're revealing!

This second action requires you to ask yourself four simple questions every time someone begins to talk to you!

These questions rivet your attention on that other person's words . . . keeps your mind from wandering . . . lets you store up his thoughts as though they were engraved in your memory!

They automatically allow you to amaze your friends by quoting — almost word by word — from conversations you had with them months before!

They allow you to win new friends by remembering details ordinary people completely forget! Impress your superiors by repeating back to them their most casual orders, step by step!

And, at exactly the same time, they enable you to "read between the lines" of whatever that other person says! Give you such incredible concentration when you want it, that you almost penetrate into that other person's mind! Discover facts he's trying to hide! Goals he's trying to conceal! Exaggerations he's trying to make you believe!

You'll be amazed at how clearly these questions open up other people's thoughts to you! And they're still just the beginning!

LEARNING ACTION NO. 3

Builds you a power-packed vocabulary! Gives you the words you need — overnight — to load your thoughts with verbal dynamite!

This action involves you in one of the most fascinating games you have ever seen!

This game takes two minutes a day! You can practice it anywhere—while dressing in the morning . . . driving your car . . . dining with your friends or family!

And every time you try it—you automatically learn new words: Emotion-packed words, that make people stop and listen to you! Color-packed words, that make your ideas and stories crackle with excitement! Power-packed words, that make people see and feel and do exactly what these words tell them to do!

Think of it! The next time you pick up a book, you'll automatically understand hundreds of new words, without even looking at a dictionary. The next time you start to speak in a business discussion, or a private conversation, or a club meeting—every eye in the room will be focused on you in startled admiration! And this is still just the beginning!

LEARNING ACTION NO. 4

Doubles your problems-solving ability. Makes math problems . . . business problems . . . financial problems HALF-SOLVE THEMSELVES before you even touch them!

This action is an ingenious little trick used by every professional math tutor in the country!

You use it before you start to work on a problem! It takes seconds to apply! It requires absolutely no math background!

And it works miracles! It turns you into a mathematical wizard! It shows you the answers to dozens of problems before you can even pick up your pencil!

It gives you a "feel for figures" that will leave your friends gasping at work. It lets you "talk the language of business" — statistics, balance sheets, profit and loss — that completely mystifies most people!

It gives you incredible new powers of making and handling money! Predicting the stock market . . . running a business . . . setting up a budget . . . making one dollar do the work of a hundred — all these skills are yours, once you learn the secret of making figures work for you at the snap of your fingers!

And it's still just the beginning! Wait till you read this —

LEARNING ACTIONS NOS. 5, 6 & 7

Lets you burn facts, figures, whole books into your memory! Write simple, clear, compelling English — almost as fast as you can move your hand — without a single mistake in spelling! Whiz right through the dozens of "make-or-break" tests — license tests . . . promotion tests . . . pay-raise tests — that are your gateway to the big money!

This is the pay-off! Now you start turning your knowledge into the kind of life you've always dreamed of!

For example, would you like to make thousands of bonus dollars with your pen! Write business reports and memos that lift you head and shoulders above the crowd! Or write the story or novel you've always wanted to put on paper! Or dash off sales letters that set new records! Or open up a part-time mail order business from your home that has the orders pouring in!

Then try this one prime secret of all professional writers—How to make your thoughts organize themselves, so you can copy them right down on the paper! And see for yourself how easy it is to write Powerhouse English — to open up a whole new world of accomplishment with one simple action!

Or — and this is the most important breakthrough of all — would you really like to earn that extra diploma you have always dreamed of!

Would you like that blue-chip promotion that has always seemed just two or three steps out of reach!

Would you like a title after your name . . . a license on your wall . . . the respect and admiration that tested knowledge — proven knowledge brings in its wake, every single time!

Then prepare for one of the most thrilling evenings of your life! When you put this "Test-Solver" Action to work! When you're shown a simple five-minute ritual—before you take a test that breaks that test wide open! That drains fear and nervousness out of your body like magic! That puts every fact you've learned right at the tips of your fingers ready to go to work for you at an instant's notice — ready to give you advancement scores so high that you move ahead faster than you have ever dreamed!

PROVE IT YOURSELF ENTIRELY AT OUR RISK!

Let me be perfectly frank! These seven simple actions are literally the difference between being first in line for life's treasures — or being satisfied with other men's leavings!

As far as we know, they have never been collected between the covers of a single book before! Now, at last, they are yours in HOW TO DOUBLE YOUR POWER TO LEARN, by Eugene M. Schwartz!

The cost of this one-volume encyclopedia of learning-made-easy is only $5.98—far less than other books that do not do its job nearly as well.

EUGENE M. SCHWARTZ

For the past six years, Gene Schwartz has worked with some of the country's leading pioneers in deutro-learning the modern science of learning how to learn. As writer, editor or publisher, he has been instrumental in bringing to the American public books on Memory Improvement, Executive Training Techniques, High-Speed Learning, Creative Thinking, Problem-Solving, Time Organization and many more.

But why not take all these incredibly powerful learning breakthroughs — and pack them into one great book — that can be used by any man or woman to show overnight results in their learning power — and earning power — so startling that they may literally take their breath away!

This is the goal of this book! "The job was too important to leave to someone else," Mr. Schwartz says, "I couldn't rest until I did it myself!"

But even more important is its unconditional guarantee! This book must deliver every single promise we have made—it must show you beyond doubt that ACTION and not theory is the key to literally DOUBLING your earning power—or simply return it for every cent of your purchase price back!

You have nothing to lose! A whole new world of accomplishment to gain! Send in the No-Risk Coupon below—TODAY!

VITAL NOTE!

To gain its wonder-working benefits in every area of your life — immediately, within five short minutes after you pick it up — there is absolutely no need to STUDY this revolutionary new book, or read it from cover to cover, or even to expend any conscious effort on your part other than to browse through it at your leisure for five or ten thrilling minutes every day!

This is NOT a textbook! NOT a study manual! There are no lectures — not a single "blue-sky" theory to ponder over or memorize in this entire book!

Instead, for the first time, here is a revolutionary new system of AUTOMATICALLY BRINGING TO LIFE YOUR HIDDEN POWER TO LEARN, through the incredibly-potent suggestion of the written word!

We do NOT want you to treat this amazing volume as you would an ordinary book! Instead, all we ask you to do is this:

Place it on your bedstand, entirely at our risk, for ten days! Browse through just a few pages every night before you retire! Skip around if you like! But make absolutely no conscious effort to "study" this book, "work" on it, or even memorize a single one of the thrilling techniques you will find on every one of its pages!

Instead, in these very first ten days alone, the startling discovery you will make is this: Instantly — simply by leafing through its pages — your mind will automatically absorb the wonder working procedures laid out for you in this book! Effortlessly, you will respond to its convention-shattering breakthroughs! Without premeditation, you will find yourself automatically applying its methods!

Inevitably — hour after hour . . . day after day . . . week after week — you will find yourself in command of ever-increasing powers of Rapid Learning, Vocabulary Building, Problem Solving, Clear-thinking, Friend-Making and much more — all brought at last to the surface of your mind and ready to automatically spring into action for you at the blink of an eyelash!

All this — for just a few short moments of your time every day! Spent with one of the most fascinating, completely absorbing books it has ever been your pleasure to glance through.

Prove it yourself, entirely at our risk! You gamble nothing but your time! We bear the full cost! Send in the enclosed No-Risk Coupon — TODAY!

With one of the plane's engines and 30 feet of wing torn away, staying aloft was technically "impossible"; here, the copilot recalls his 24 minutes of desperate danger aboard

The Jet That Couldn't Fly—but Did

By MAX WEBB

IT WAS A BEAUTIFUL June day as our Pan American 707 roared down the runway at San Francisco International Airport and took off into the clear, sunlit sky.

We were bound for Honolulu, 143 passengers and a crew of 10—just a routine jet flight, safer than a Sunday automobile drive.

Then, abruptly, the calm was shattered as the aircraft shook violently!

From where I sat (in the cockpit behind the captain, Charles Kimes), I couldn't see what was wrong. But many of the passengers could. They were fearfully aware that the far-right engine had exploded and hurtled away—and that the outer part of the wing was on fire!

At first, all that Captain Kimes could do was keep the shaking ship under control. To prevent the plane from flipping over or diving downward, he equalized the extra push of the two left engines by constantly changing the rudder position and rolling up the left aileron. He did this instinctively, automatically, as practiced in training missions under simulated conditions.

The No. 4 engine's fire indicator came on, and the alarm bell began ringing stridently in the cockpit. Captain Kimes turned off the No. 4 engine, and Fred Miller, the first officer, directed the fire-extinguishing agent against it.

I called the San Francisco tower to request clearance for an immediate return to the airport. But my message didn't get through. The mountains we had just crossed were blocking communication. Then, quite unexpectedly, I heard a third voice repeating our message! Someone—I still don't know who—had heard the message and was relaying it for us.

By now, Captain Kimes had reassessed the situation. "Better make that mayday [the distress-signal word]," he told me. A short time after that, a Coast Guard plane, high enough above us to clear the mountain hurdle, started relaying our messages and stayed with us throughout the flight.

We had just gone through the regular drill—selecting a discharge agent, stopping all liquids from flowing to the engine, etc.—when the first officer reported that the wing tip had blown off. This could be it, I said to myself.

But everything happened so rapidly—no more than 45 seconds had elapsed from the first alarm until the indicators showed that the fire was under control—that there was no time to think about anything except what we were trained to do in an emergency. Those 45 critical seconds could well have meant the difference between life and death.

But the danger was far from over. According to the experts, no plane with 30 feet of a wing missing should have been able to stay aloft. And it couldn't have with anyone less capable than Charles Kimes at the controls.

After the fire was extinguished, I went back into the passenger compartment and met the purser, Harry Green, coming forward. "We're in a mayday situation," I told him. "I don't know whether we can stay airborne. We may have to go down on land or on water."

The 52-year-old Green was the calmest man I ever met. He followed my directions precisely. When I went back into the cabin a second time to make sure the fire had remained extinguished, the passengers were in their life jackets going through their emergency-landing drill. They responded beautifully.

Of course, there were some who showed their fear more openly than others—such as the man who tugged on my sleeve, none too gently. "Are we going to make it?" he whispered.

"We'll be all right," I assured him. He wasn't convinced.

"I'm not so worried about myself . . ." he insisted.

No one ever admits he is, I thought.

"You should be taking notes!" I suggested.

He looked at me blankly.

"So you can remember this all your life!" I explained with a grin.

"I can do that without notes!" he said—and then started to chuckle, nervously to be sure, but the tension was eased.

Being occupied during a crisis is all-important. Such activity keeps the mind busy so it can't fall prey to wild and not-so-wild imaginings. One couple took movies of the burning wing. Green and I saw to it that all the passengers practiced emergency-landing procedures, partly to help minimize their thoughts of what could happen.

Back in the cockpit, the feeling was tense but calm. We knew that if things got worse we would have to ditch. Captain Kimes waited a few more moments before he made his announcement to the passengers. When he did, his remarks not only captured their attention but were a reassurance to all of us.

"We are having a minor problem," he said. Then—and you could almost "hear" the smile on his face—he added, "Come to think of it, it's not so minor."

Capt. Kimes decided to proceed to Travis Air Force Base and told me to relay that information to the Coast Guard plane.

One of my jobs is to be a kind of back-seat driver to the pilot: to monitor and check everything he says and does. Before I returned to normal flying procedure—that is, if you could call our kind of flying normal—I fastened the captain into his shoulder harness. He was too busy with the controls to do it himself. Then I put his and Fred Miller's life jackets behind them, where they would be readily available in case we still had to ditch.

We were flying at about 1,100 feet when we cut back inland toward Travis. Suddenly I could see ahead a smokestack at 900 feet at Martinez. I pointed it out to Captain Kimes. He nodded and said he felt sure we could make it. Then another obstacle loomed ahead of us—high-tension wires at 800 to 900 feet. I pointed them out to the captain as well, and again he said: "We'll be all right."

There was one more obstacle to overcome. As we approached Travis, our engineer informed us that we were losing our hydraulic system. The landing gear simply couldn't be lowered. I hurriedly pushed aside my charting desk to let the engineer go below to release the gear, which falls by gravity, and then lock it into place.

About two minutes before touchdown, the landing gear was in place and locked. While the captain made a teardrop turn preparatory to setting the plane down—with emergency equipment standing by—I went back into the cabin once more to make sure that all the passengers were complying with emergency-landing procedure and to help evacuate the plane as quickly—and as safely—as possible.

I was fairly certain that the landing gear would hold up, but as a precaution we told the passengers to brace themselves with their heads between their knees until the plane came to a full stop. This done, I sat on the floor and braced myself against the bulkhead. There were no empty seats.

Exactly 24 minutes after we had left San Francisco, our jet thundered down the field at Travis and came to a halt. Everything went according to the book as the passengers slid safely down the emergency chutes to the ground. In fact, some of them felt so secure that they began worrying about their personal possessions!

When at last Captain Kimes went down the emergency chute, there was a well-deserved round of applause for him. But the passengers could have applauded themselves as well. What a wonderful group of people!

Until then, I had been too busy to worry much about anything except my duties as a copilot. Now I suddenly thought of my wife Maureen and my two sons, Ronald, 11, and Robert, 10.

I didn't know that Maureen had already been contacted by a Pan American crew scheduler. She told me later that it was a shock to her when he asked for "Mrs. Webb." Always before, Pan American employees had asked for me when they called our home. Maureen said it was like receiving a telegram from the War Department.

The crew scheduler began by telling Maureen: "Your husband is safe. Don't pay any attention to what you may hear on tv or the radio." And sure enough, a few minutes later she heard a report that we had crashed with a total loss of life. That report, of course, could be traced to the fact that our engine had fallen into South San Francisco—luckily without injury to anyone.

Being British, my wife immediately sat down and made herself a cup of tea. It didn't quite soothe her nerves. When I called her, she told me that she had stirred in salt instead of sugar!

It's too early to speculate on the cause of the accident, which is being investigated by the FAA, the CAB, and Pan American. What's important is that, through the training we received, the crew functioned as one, the passengers behaved with incredible calm, and the plane, which experts claim couldn't be flown, did fly. ◆

QUIPS AND QUOTES

Always Glad to Help

Though I don't, I confess, have the time of my life,
I often go shopping for clothes for my wife.
I help her by saying, "It's just a bit snug,"
"It's loose in the back," or "It hangs like a rug,"
Or "Is this, are you sure, what they're wearing this year?"
Or "It doesn't do anything for you, my dear."
In the end, it is true, she is likely to buy,
But there's always a chance, and at least I can try.

Little Anne's father had caught her telling a fib. "I'm surprised at you," he said. "Why, when I was your age, I never thought of telling a lie."

Anne looked at her father curiously. "How old were you when you did think of it, Daddy?" she asked. —Frank Rose

"Ham sandwich," said the man, sitting down at a lunch counter. He noted the puzzled expression on the counterman's face and repeated, "Ham sandwich, please."

"That's not on the menu," the counterman said. "But we do have a Chef's Delight, which is a triple-decker with pastrami, tomato, lettuce, cheese, ham, and pickle relish on pumpernickel bread with cole slaw on the side."

"Then you do have ham," the customer insisted.

"Yes."

"Well, put it between two slices of white bread and give it to me on a plate!"

"Okay," the counterman shrugged, then shouted out to the cook: "Ordering one Chef's Delight—single deck, hold the pastrami, tomato, lettuce, cheese, pickle relish, and cole slaw, and put it on white plain!"

Ten Billion!

That's the number of ice-cream cones Americans eat each year.

Do you know when the cone was invented? Sixty-one years ago. The story is that an ice-cream vendor at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 ran out of paper cups while a lot of children were waiting to be served. A waffle seller in the next booth saw the predicament. He quickly made a cone out of a waffle—and the day was saved. Now ice-cream cones are popular all over the world.

Do you know how many ice-cream flavors there are? Do you know which flavor has always been the favorite?

Baseball's Magic-Mud Man

SHORTLY BEFORE the start of every major-league baseball game, the umpires gather and huddle over a small tin can to perform a mysterious ceremony—the rubbing of the mud!

The umps take the five dozen baseballs which are likely to be used during the game and rub them down with mud from the can. They do this to de-gloss the balls, thus making them easier for the pitchers to grip.

This little-known ritual has been going on for a quarter of a century, ever since Russell (Lena) Blackburne, who was in baseball 47 years, came up with his special magic mud and sold the major leagues on using it.

I visited 78-year-old Russell Blackburne recently at his bungalow in Palmyra, N.J., to find out about this miracle muck.

His wife Grace C. answered the door. "So you want to see the old stick-in-the-mud?" she said. She led me to the basement where the former infielder, manager, coach, and scout was puttering among the mementos of his days on the diamond.

"I can't be telling writers all about this stuff," Blackburne scowled. He circled a table covered with dozens of trophies, citations, and photographs and then continued good-humoredly: "But I'll let you in on most of it, being as I'm a nice guy."

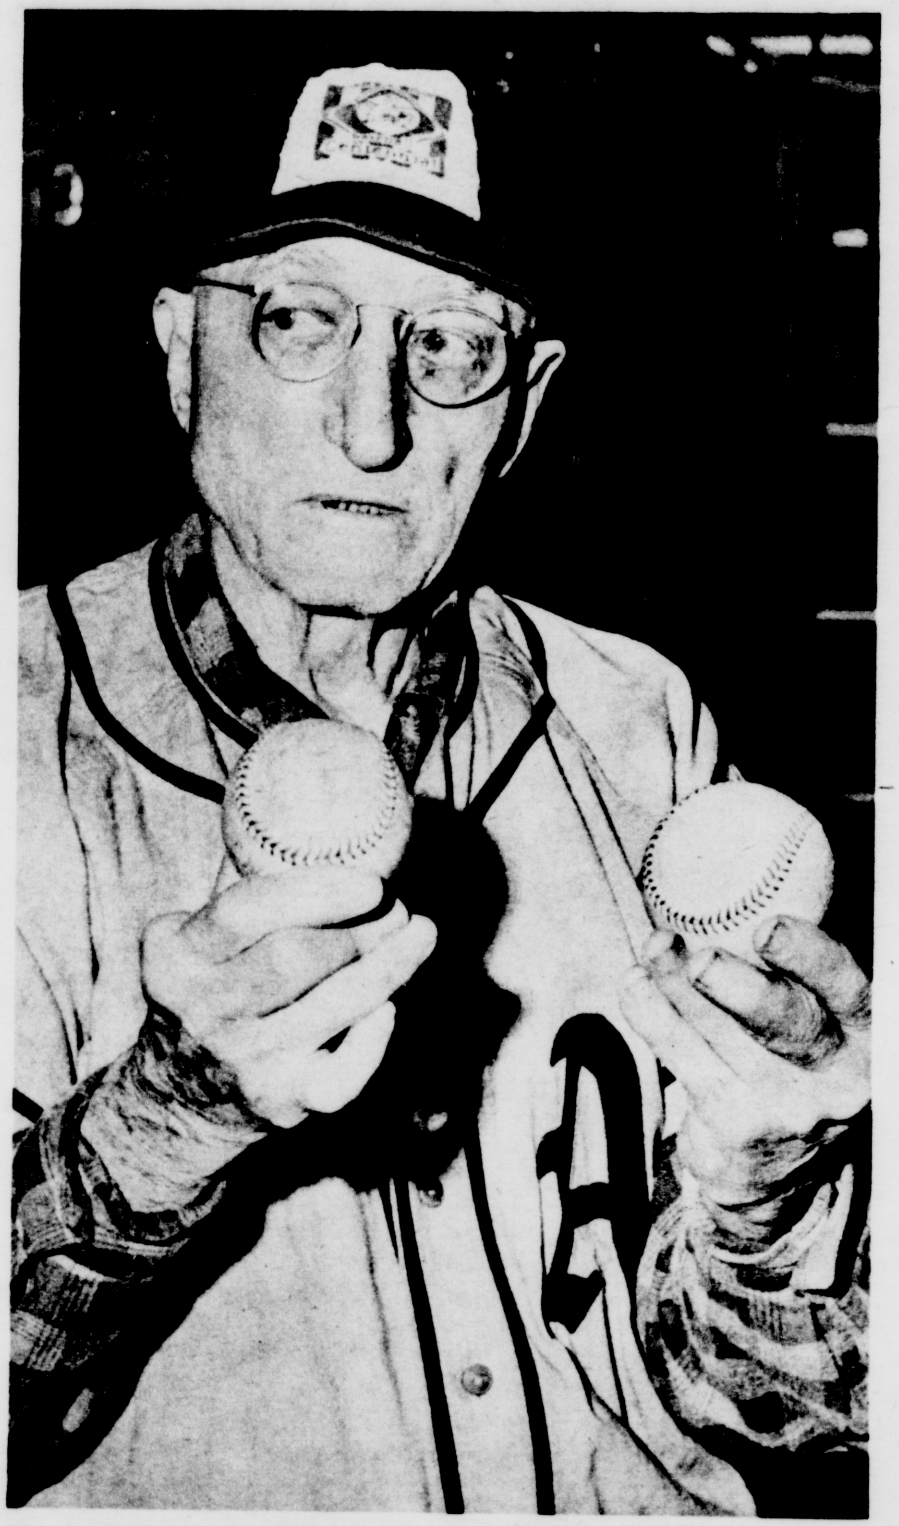

Blackburne put on his black, knee-length boots and drove me about a mile to Pennsauken Creek. "This isn't the exact spot where I get my goo," he said. "Nobody ever will know where that is. But this is close enough. Where I get my mud, two streams come together. That means the mud is filtered twice and is very fine."

Blackburne said he does his digging in the fall, taking a fishing rod along in case the trout are biting. He stores the mud in crocks through the winter, then ships it out a couple of weeks before spring training.

Some time between fall and spring, he does something special to the mud which makes it smooth as cold cream and non-staining. But what he does is top secret.

After we returned to his basement, Blackburne scooped some of his miracle mud from a crock and worked the grayish-black stuff through a sieve. "This takes out any stones," he said. "They would wreck a ball. Of course, umps never let any of this mud get into the stitches of a ball. The balance would be ruined, and pitchers would make the ball perform the aerobatics of a horsefly under a lamp shade."

Next, Blackburne showed me how he fills one-pound cans with his mud and mails them off to the 10 American, 10 National, and eight International League clubs. He also saves a can for the World Series. One can lasts a team the entire season.

He is the only fellow in the sport who gets ready for a game by going fishing— but the ol' fishing hole produces a marvelous ooze

By JOSEPH F. LOWRY

Blackburne brushed off my question about what he charges the ball clubs, saying: "This isn't a business; it's a hobby. Besides, what I get I share with my wife."

Mrs. Blackburne, who at 74 is still a lovely woman, smiled an impish smile. "True, and you'd better continue doing it," she said. Turning to me, she added: "I take my girl friends to lunch every year on my share. It's my mud money."

Blackburne then told me how he became baseball's only curator of mud.

In 1939 Harry C. Geisel, an American League umpire, complained to Blackburne, then a third-base coach for the Philadelphia Athletics, that the baseballs were too slick. A lot of batters were getting hit because pitchers couldn't control new balls.

Blackburne tossed this around in his mind. A short time later, he was strolling along Pennsauken Creek when he noticed some mud that seemed to have an unusual smoothness. He put a little of it in a can, experimented with it, and then took it to the ball park and asked Geisel to try it.

Geisel liked the results. The gloss vanished, yet the ball didn't discolor. He spread the word. The umps of the American League made mud rubbing a must before all games. The National and International Leagues eventually adopted the practice.

The mud-rubbing ceremony runs close to half an hour when there's a single game. If there's a double-header, it takes an hour to rub 10 dozen balls.

Blackburne opened a huge closet in a corner of his private basement Hall of Fame. The uniforms he pulled out told the story of his turbulent career.

He extracted the suit he wore while pitching as a kid for his father's team in Palmyra. "Usually I pitched on Saturday or Sunday afternoon, and when I didn't win, Dad put me to bed without any supper. I soon had only victories," he said.

He showed me the uniform he wore with the New England League farm club in 1908 and the ones he wore later with the Chicago White Sox, the Boston Braves, and the Philadelphia Phillies. He later was a coach with the old St. Louis Browns, the White Sox, and in 1933 made his way to Philadelphia, where he coached the A's "until I got fired out of the game by the Kansas City A's."

Baseball has filled Blackburne's life, and it is still on his mind. When I was saying good-bye, he sighed and said: "Sure wish I was out on that good old diamond."

"Don't be so sentimental, Lena," put in Mrs. Blackburne. "What other guy connected with baseball goes fishing to get ready for a game?" ◆

Kids chew his bubble gum, collegians fling pies at him, adults repeat his gags, mobs besiege his stage shows; now his wife answers the question:

WHO IS THIS SOUPY SALES?

By MRS. SOUPY SALES
as told to Jack Ryan

Soupy Sales and his wife Barbara relax with their sons and dog Beauty.

MY HUSBAND was a prisoner of teen-age mobs! They besieged him for 10 days last spring in New York's famed Paramount Theater while he was making an appearance there.

Some girls rented rooms in the nearby Astor Hotel and demanded a "Soupy view." When Soupy leaned out his window and waved to the crowds, the police threatened to arrest him.

My wifely visiting rights consisted of sneaking through the mobs and seeing him backstage. Toward the end of his run, I found him haggard and 15 pounds lighter but still exclaiming: "This is it—what we took all the knocks for!"

Despite acclaim by kids and adults (20 percent of his audiences are grownups), I still heard a man ask: "Who IS this Soupy Sales?" Well, I could have told him.

Soupy is the slapstick comic who made pie-in-the-face throwing so popular that Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis, Burt Lancaster, and other Hollywood stars lined up to get a meringue of shaving cream shoved in their faces. He is the constant cut-up who invented a dance step at a party which developed into a teen-age favorite, the Mouse (his records for the dance have sold a million copies). And his is the face goggling at you from sweatshirts and bubble gum. There are now 60 such items selling at the rate of $10 million a year.

But as his wife for 15 years, let me tell you who Soupy Sales really is: not the comic kids love and adults either hate or love, but the thirtyish man with wiry black hair who never quite outgrew being the "school nut" in our home town of Huntington, W. Va.

His widowed mother ran the local dry-goods store, and he was known as Milton "Soupbone" Hines, and his buddies were nicknamed "Chickenbone" and "Hambone." Soupbone studied to be a newspaperman but was more interested in show time than deadline.

We were married in 1950, after his graduation from Marshall College, and he went to work for a radio station at $20 a month. "You just wait," he'd promise. "You'll see." I did see, too, but it truly was a wait. A good friend of ours managed the Huntington station, and one day we got terrible news—he'd been fired.

It was a sour moment but, as it so happens, the real beginning, too, because he landed a job in Cincinnati and called in Soupy as a disc jockey. So we took our first step to conquer the hip big cities—and, believe me, using the same clowning that slayed them in Huntington.

Cincinnati? I remember my husband changing his name to Sales because Soupy Hines sounded "like a commercial." I also remember Soupy's discouragement. He had enthusiastically presented an idea for a new type of show, a teen-age dance program with music and fun. "It'll never go," said the bosses. Six months later Dick Clark came on with a similar program, and "American Bandstand" made showbusiness history.

We next packed for Cleveland, where a newspaper named Soupy's show "best of the year"—but he was fired the following week. "They think I'm a nut just because I talk loud, make funny faces, and gag up a show," Soupy would say, talking loud, making faces, and tossing off gags. "Am I a nut?" Certainly not, I told him. Doesn't every husband act that way after he's been fired?

We have good memories of Cleveland, though. Our oldest boy Tony, now 13, was born there and so was Soupy's trademark. He wrote an Indian skit which needed a totally unexpected climax, and what could be more unexpected than a pie flying in from nowhere?

Soupy wanted to work in Detroit, but he couldn't get a job until a station executive there accidentally turned on Soupy's audition tape, which had been long-forgotten. We moved to Detroit with happy results. Our youngest boy Hunt, now 11, was born there. Soupy got a network show and became one of the highest-paid local performers in the nation. He worked so hard, though, that on one of the rare occasions he was home, Tony rushed to him with: "Hey, Dad, Soupy Sales is on! You gotta see him!"

After seven years in Detroit, Soupy suddenly said: "Look, this is great, but when I'm 50, with mortgage paid and kids raised and sitting on my patio, you know what'll I ask myself—'Could I have made it really big?' "

So we packed up for Los Angeles, and lightning struck when Soupy was summoned to the phone for a "call from Frank Sinatra." Soupy thought it was a practical joke, but there came Frankie's voice saying: "Could I be on your show? Not just a walk-on. I want the works—pie in the face and all." So Sinatra, who rates $50,000 a guest appearance, came on free—and all Hollywood followed.

Soupy became a celebrity. We bought a big house, and Soupy had time for the boys and his hobby, painting. So one day, he said: "You know, New York is really big . . ." and I began to pack.

New York was big. It brought Soupy to the entire country through everything from the Ed Sullivan Show to county fairs to campus "concerts," where everybody shows up with a pie in hand.

Why do people love Soupy? Maybe because he reciprocates boundlessly and has retained a sense of absurdity about adult life, talking to such show characters as White Fang, the "meanest dog in the world," and tossing off nonsensical one-liners such as: "Show me a dead Communist, and I'll show you a Red Skeleton."

Anyway the love affair became nationwide, and I had just settled down in New York when our oldest boy announced he had formed a rock 'n' roll trio called Tony and His Tigers, had cut his first record, and "was going places!" Before I could get my breath, Soupy charged in and said:

"I just signed to do five pictures for Columbia! We're going to shoot them on location all over the country. Better pack . . ."

I felt as if I'd just been hit in the face with a pie. ◆

Turkey Divan

The modern timesaving boned frozen turkey roast provides meaty slices for this convenience turkey divan.

- 1 10-oz. pkg. frozen broccoli or asparagus spears
- 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
- ½ packet or ½ can (about 3 tablespoons) dry onion soup mix
- ½ cup water
- ½ cup coarsely chopped ripe olives
- ¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
- 6 slices cooked turkey (about ¾ lb.)
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1½ cups coarsely crushed corn flakes

1. Cook broccoli or asparagus according to package directions, omitting salt.

2. Meanwhile, combine condensed soup, dry soup mix, and water; mix thoroughly. Stir in the olives and cheese.

3. Spread some of the soup mixture over the bottom of a shallow 1- to 1½-qt. baking dish. Overlap turkey slices to cover bottom of the dish; spoon some of the soup mixture over all. Arrange cooked broccoli or asparagus spears over turkey slices and top with the remaining soup mixture, spreading evenly to cover vegetables; set aside.

4. Brown the butter or margarine in a skillet; add corn flakes and stir, to coat, over low heat about 3 min. Sprinkle evenly over top of divan.

5. Heat in a 350°F. oven about 20 min., or until sauce begins to bubble around the edges. About 4 servings

Zesty Beets

Heat the contents of a 1-lb. can or jar small whole beets; drain. Gently stir in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons prepared horseradish, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, and ½ teaspoon seasoned salt. 4 servings

Cornmeal-Kist Biscuits

Separate contents of 1 can refrigerated flaky biscuits and coat each biscuit with cornmeal. Place on an ungreased baking sheet about 2 in. apart. Bake at 400°F. 10 to 12 min., or until golden brown. Serve hot. 10 or 12 biscuits

Creamy Vegetable Mold

- 1½ cups tomato juice
- 1 6-oz. pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon celery salt
- ½ cup lemon juice
- 1⅔ cups undiluted evaporated milk
- 4 teaspoons instant minced onion
- 1 cup cream-style cottage cheese
- 1 8½-oz can small peas, drained
- 1 8- to 8½-oz. can cut or diagonally sliced green beans, drained
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

1. Heat the tomato juice to boiling. Pour over gelatin and sugar in a bowl and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in the celery salt and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened; stir occasionally.

2. Gradually add evaporated milk to the thickened gelatin mixture, stirring constantly to blend thoroughly. Then stir in the remaining ingredients; mix well.

3. Turn mixture into a lightly oiled 1½-qt. ring mold and chill until firm.

4. Unmold onto a chilled serving plate and garnish with crisp lettuce.

One 1½-qt. ring mold

Versatile Tomato-Celery Stew

The possible uses of this stew in the menu are varied. With ham and rice among its ingredients, it is a satisfying family meal-in-a-dish; with ham omitted, it becomes a rice-vegetable accompaniment for succulent slices of canned ham; with both ham and rice omitted, it's a colorful vegetable dish to be served in sauce dishes with a main course.

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 small clove garlic, minced
- ¾ lb. celery, cut diagonally in 1-in. pieces
- 2 1-lb. cans tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon Accent
- ¼ teaspoon crushed thyme
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- 1 vegetable bouillon cube
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- ½ cup uncooked rice
- ¾ to 1 lb. canned ham, cut in short strips

1. Add the onion, green pepper, and garlic to hot butter or margarine in a large saucepan. Cook until onion is softened, about 2 min., stirring occasionally.

2. Stir in the celery, tomatoes, a mixture of the next four ingredients, the bouillon cube, and parsley. Bring to boiling.

3. Add rice gradually, stirring with a fork. Simmer, covered, about 50 min. Add ham and simmer about 10 min. longer, or until ham is heated through and celery is tender. Sprinkle shredded Parmesan cheese over top before serving. Pass additional cheese. About 6 servings
